Students Face Cal Fee Hike

BERKELEY (AP) — President Charles J. Hitch has proposed increasing fees for 106,000 University of California students from the present $300 per scholastic year to $660 over the next two years.

The additional revenue, which he estimates would amount to $38 million in the 1971-72 school year, would be used to help pay for new buildings and student financial aid, he said.

PRESENT USE

None of present student fees goes for these two purposes, and the new use raised the question whether Hitch's proposal Monday did not, in effect, establish a tuition charge. The university has a century-old tradition of tuition-fee higher education for California students.

The Hitch idea mentioned the proposed increases as fee charges, and a university spokesman noted that none of the revenue derived would be used for regular operational expenses, which is a normal use for tuition income.

The present $300 student fee provides funds for student services — medical treatment, athletics, student publications, and the like.

Hitch's proposal has been sent to the UC Board of Regents Finance Committee, which meets in Los Angeles Thursday and Friday.

OTHER PROPOSALS

The regents will have other proposals in this area, including one for tuition scaled according to earnings of students' parents and another setting up loans for payment of tuition. The loans would be repaid after graduation.

Hitch said his proposal implements a resolution approved last month by the Coordinating Council for Higher Education, which includes three UC representatives, three from state colleges, three from community colleges, three from private institutions and six from the general public.

The council's resolution, Hitch noted, suggested that any "increase in student fees be moderate, that it be 'flat' rather than graduated, and that it be used for capital outlay expenditures and for supplementary student financial aid."

Hitch said he was reluctant to propose the increases, but the alternative would be "a restricted university."

FAILS IN '68

A construction bond issue failed in the 1968 general election. A $246 million bond issue for construction of health sciences facilities is on the ballot for next June.

Under Hitch's proposal the registration fee of $300 for a three-quarter academic year would be increased next fall by $30 a quarter and a new educational facilities fee of $30 a quarter would be established. This would make the total fees $480 for three quarters.

In the fall of 1971, the registration fee would go up another $30 a quarter and the education facilities fee would increase by $30 a quarter, making total fees $660 for an academic year of three quarters.

For out-of-state UC students who now pay tuition of $1,200 for a three-quarter academic year, Hitch proposes similar increases, taking the total tuition and fees to $1,860 for the 1971-72 school year.

Heyns Sees Militancy Fading Out

Chancellor Says Students Suffering Combat Fatigue

BERKELEY (AP) — Chancellor Roger W. Heyns of the University of California's Berkeley complex, who has had his share of campus confrontations, says the student militants across the land seem to be running out of steam.

A long series of disorders at Berkeley reached a climax last May in a row over the use of university land as a "People's Park." It left one dead, one blinded and hundreds injured, tear-gassed or in jail.

"A lot of people have been waiting for the other shoe to drop here," Heyns said Monday in an interview. "Even if it does, it won't be a very big shoe.

"Combat fatigue is certainly part of the theory to explain this peace, but there is also a general sense that the tactics of confrontation are counter-productive, and that positive things have happened with lots of people working very hard and constructively.

"There is keen awareness that student disruption does invite external intervention which has corrosive effects."

Heyns added that the radical left student movement was weakened by splits in its ranks.

"I think students are growing more sophisticated and that the university administration is more sensitive to students," he said.

Heyns denied that he plans to resign, a persistent rumor since he left on a recent three-month leave. Heyns, 52, took his present post four years ago after serving as vice president at the University of Michigan.

Heyns said university presidencies across the nation are vacant becauue of growing pressures from both the conservatives and radicals.

"There is a constant need for the university administrator to define the middle position. The threats to inquiry are real and the decision the administrator makes will not always be popular," he said.

Heyns said he was optimistic, however, about the future of higher education.

"The Congress, the legislatures and President Nixon have all indicated a willingness to let the institutions solve their own problems," he said.

Heyns said Berkeley faculty morale was higher now and "through all of the disruptions during the past five years we have gone on with achievements in the continuance of instructions." He added:

"The Berkeley campus had to turn away 2,700 students this quarter and a nice irony was that I received telephone calls from legislators asking help in entering their nieces, nephews and children. These are the same legislators who said they would never send their children to Berkeley."

Asked about his decision to evict the "street people" and

The late Col. Waddell F. Smith of San Rafael has left his "Pony Express Retreat" in the Country Club area of San Rafael to the County of Marin.

In a will filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court, the county was bequeathed the half-century-old building and its contents at 75 Margarita Drive, where Smith both lived and collected historical and art objects relating to the Pony Express era.

Smith, who died Thursday at the age of 70, was the great-grandson of one of the founders of the Pony Express.

The Spanish-style building in which he lived served as the Marin Golf and Country Club until 1939, when club lands were subdivided for homes.

The will provides that the county must maintain the building as a cultural center and art gallery and must erect a plaque saying that the purpose of the center is "to enrich the cultural life of her (Marin County's) citizens and preserve for subsequent generations the authentic history of the Pony Express.

If the county does not meet the conditions or doesn't want the building, the structure will go to the state of California. If the state turns down the bequest, it will go to Smith's nephew and niece, Keith W. Smith of Mill Valley and Nancy Ann Tiller of Uplands.

The probate suit filed yesterday estimated Smith's estate at $250,000. He left $30,000 to his wife, Mariana, and $1,000 to his stepson, Waddell F. Smith. Mrs. Smith will also receive an additional $15,000 after expenses are paid.

Smith's brother, Walter, who lives in Kansas City, Mo., will get $30,000.

The will was written in January 1969.

Unruh Left Only Demo Vs. Reagan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislative leader Jesse M. Unruh was the only major Democratic challenger to Gov. Reagan today following the decision of San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto not to run.

Alioto announced Monday, "I shall not run for governor this time around."

The balding, energetic 53-year-old mayor had formed the nucleus of a campaign staff and was expected to take on Unruh for the Democratic nomination in the June 2 primary.

But opinion polls showed Alioto's popularity clouded by a magazine article alleging involvement with the Mafia and reports of fee sharing in a legal suit with the former attorney general of Washington State. Friends told Alioto it wasn't worth an estimated $4 million to $5 million to run against such odds.

Reagan is expected to announce for a second term in March. Unruh, the Assembly Democratic leader, declared his candidacy in December.

Unruh commended Alioto for "an act of statesmanship." The 47-year-old former Assembly speaker from Inglewood, who announced his candidacy in December, said he hoped to meet with the mayor soon to seek his support.

Some party leaders who had remained neutral as long as there was the prospect of a primary fight immediately announced support for Unruh.

Alioto aides told newsmen Monday his afternoon news conference was to discuss city affairs, but rumors circulated in Sacramento that the mayor was bowing out.

He said he did not have time to be mayor, run for governor and prosecute his $12.5 million libel suit against Look magazine, which alleged in a Sept. 23 article that he had ties to the Mafia.

"Gov. Reagan can be beaten, but it will require concentrated campaigning over a long series of months," Alioto said.

Unruh said, "I subscribe to

Two Pilots Die In San Pablo Bay Crash

The son of the Air Force chief of staff and his co-piolet were killed yesterday when their F4 Phantom fighter-bomber plummeted into San Pablo Bay.

Killed in the crash at 11:30 a.m. were Air Force Capts. John D. Ryan Jr., son of Chief of Staff John D. Ryan Sr., and J. Travis Nelson, both 29. The men were on a cross-country training flight from Hamilton Air Force Base to Holloman Air Force Base, N.M., where both were stationed with the 49th Tactical Fighter Wing.

The crash came shortly after Ryan radioed Hamilton minutes after taking off that he was returning to make an emergency landing.

Robert Barragan, skipper of a party fishing boat on the bay said he looked up when he heard "what sounded like a bomb going off...I had heard a pair of jets go over and then I heard this big explosion..I looked up and saw a ball of smoke and fire over the water. I didn't see any parachutes."

The plane plunged into the bay about 4.5 miles southeast of Hamilton.

A Coast Guard cutter and helicopter were aiding in a search for bodies today, while an Air Force commission began probing the cause of the crash.

Ryan is also survived by a wife and a small son and his mother. Nelson, a bachelor, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Nelson of Cedar City, Utah.

Reagan, Students Agree On High Priority Needy Funds

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan and 28 state college and university student body presidents have agreed that educational assistance programs for poor and minority students should have high priority in state budgets.

But the governor made no public reply to the plea of the student leaders that assistance programs should get top budget priority.

Reagan and the student leaders met for 1½ hours Monday behind closed doors and emerged with equally cautious assessments of their second monthly meeting.

Reagan said the students "made it clear" that Educational Opportunity Program (EOP) was their top priority: "I got the message," the governor said. "I hope they gathered we are all on the same side as far as the importance of it," he added, explaining that he could make no commitments on budgets.

"It was a good meeting...we have established communication," Reagan added. "There were different views expressd, but certainly no rancor."

"I think we got far more accomplished this time," said student body president Terry Friedman of Long Beach State College. "There was far more rapport, more understanding by the governor. . . we reached basic agreement on EOP." "I don't react to words, I only react to actions," said James Edward of San Jose State College, 22-year-old brother of militant black athlete Harry Edward. The new San Jose State student

Nigeria Gates Ajar For Aid To Biafrans

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Nigerian leader Maj. Gen. Yakubo Gowon agreed today to allow Britain to fly in 10 tons of medical supplies for the ill and starving refugees of the Nigerian Civil War. In New York, top United Nations officials worked quietly to avert "another Congo" in Nigeria. (See photo, page 5.)

Gowon accepted the surrender of Biafra, which fought a 31-month-civil war after its secession on May 30, 1967, and said, "This is Nigeria's greatest moment—the moment of victory." His statement marked an end to the conflict in which two million persons died. Offers of aid for the estimated two million persons threatened with starvation poured in from the free nations of the world. The Soviet Union, however, said shipments of food to Biafra was "interference in the internal affairs of Nigeria."

Officials of the U.N. Children's Fund appealed to the Big Three Western powers to airlift trucks to Biafra to distribute food and medicines to prevent massive starvation and disease. UNICEF officials said they were only acting as liaison officials and the major part of the aid must come from the Big powers.

Repeatedly they mentioned only the United States, Britain and France. Diplomatic sources said this was because there is no national UNICEF committee in the Soviet Union as there is in the other Big Four countries.

Some diplomats said it reflected a fear that if massive aid should go into Nigeria from the Soviet Union they might have another situation which arose in 1960 when massive Russian aid poured into the Congo for the rebel regime of Patrice Lumumba. That situation brought the U.N. organization to the brink of disaster.

Bolinas Protests; Bus Fares Remain

Tamalpais High School District held fast to its new bus fare policy last night after students, parents and residents of Bolinas, Stinson Beach and San Geronimo Valley urged free transportation for students.

About 65 persons packed a classroom at Bolinas School for the special session on the fare, $2.50 a week round-trip, which sparked a protest march by students over White's Hill yesterday, and hike by Bolinas-Stinson Beach students last week.

After the two-and-a-half hour session, Trustee Robert W. Corlett made a motion that the Bolinas-Stinson Beach and San Geronimo Valley sectors be declared "hardship areas," and bus transportation be free.

The audience applauded, but no one seconded the motion.

At the start of the meeting, Board President Bette Wallace said Sir Francis Drake High School students reportedly had 1,000 signatures on petitions urging bus service at no cost. "They're not all here," she commented. "They'll mail the rest tomorrow."

Residents and students contended that the free transportation had been promised, that the district had a moral obligation to get the students to the schools, that the cost was a burden, that transportation to schools should have higher priority than transportation to

Courthouse Lots Leased To City

The grounds around the vacated Marin County Courthouse will be maintained by the City of San Rafael, with the city using the parking area on a month-to-month basis until the courthouse is sold.

This proposal, by San Rafael City Mgr. James H. McCown was unanimously approved today by Marin County supervisors.

The supervisors asked county staff to prepare an agreement leasing the courthouse grounds to the City of San Rafael at a nominal rental of $1 or $10 per month.

Sale of the courthouse square, vacated in the move to the new Hall of Justice, is apparently imminent. The county has set Feb. 10 to open bids on the courthouse, with the minimum price set at $750,000.

School Holiday On Birthday Of King

Students and faculty of the Sausalito School District will get an unscheduled vacation Thursday after the district board voted unanimously last night to suspend classes in honor of the late Martin Luther King's birthday.

The board's action came after Martin Luther King School teacher Marilyn Burns presented a petition signed by all of the school's faculty and many of the students requesting the special holiday. The petition asked only a holiday for Martin Luther King School, but the board made the observance district-wide after Barbara Hendrickson, a teacher at Central School, said she also had a petition asking for the holiday.

The board's action prompted a minor flareup between Supt. Philip Schneider and Sidney K. Walton, Martin Luther King principal. Schneider, who supported the board's action, criticized the manner in which the issue was presented, saying the petition should have been processed through regular administrative channels rather than being sprung on the board at the last minute.

Walton said he felt Schneider's remarks were "unnecessary" and that he took it as a "personal insult."

Trustee David Freedheim supported Schneider and suggested that any further such requests be routed through the administration.

The board's action drew only one protest, that coming from Ann Hospodar, who said she didn't oppose a holiday in memory of King but questioned why there was no holiday in memory of John F. Kennedy.

"Don't forget we have a president who was shot also," she told the board.

Schneider told the board that students could miss school Thursday and still have enough days to meet the minimum requirement of school days set by the state.

The Sausalito School District board also:

REPORT CARDS— Heard a proposal to lower the number of report card periods from four to three at Central School and to allow each individual teacher to develop a personal report card format. The board will consider action at the Jan. 26 meeting.

FINANCE COMMITTEE—Set Jan. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at Trustee C. Gerald Clear's home as the date and time for the next meeting of the board's finance committee.

TOUR—Heard a report from Walton on a five-day Innovative Centers tour which he made recently.

Mother To Be Tried For Reversing Flag

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — A 26-year-old housewife who flew the American flag upside down in an anti-war protest faces up to a year in prison and a $1,000 fine on charges of violating the state's general business law.

Mrs. Lawrence Hubner, a mother of two, flew the flag from the front porch of the family's Wantagh, Long Island, home on Oct. 15 and again on Nov. 13 to show support for the Vietnam moratorium.

The second time a neighbor, who has not been identified, complained to Nassau County police who came to her door and asked her to reverse the flag or take it down.

"I refused," she said. "I told them I was deeply concerned about our involvement in the war. For years I've been one of those living room liberals, complaining about the war but doing nothing."

Mrs. Hubner, who has not been active in any formal peace movements, said the police first arrested her and then, because she had to stay home to care for her two young children, gave her a summons.

The charge was violation of a secion of the state's general business law that prohibits showing "contempt, either by word or act, upon the flag."

When she appeared before Judge James P. Griffin in 1st District Court here Dec. 26, she requested adjournment because her lawyer could not be present. Griffin set $500 bail.

Mrs. Hubner appeared Monday before 1st District Court Judge Edward J. Paulos and pleaded innocent. Her bail was returned and a March 17 trial date set. "Each judge has his own determination to make," said Paulos explaining his action in returning the bail.

Asked if her husband supported her in her actions, Mrs. Hubner replied, "Yes he does. In fact the flag flying was his idea."

Hitch Proposed $18 Million For Research On Pollution

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The University of California's president proposed Monday an $18 million "crisis" research effort to control air pollution and restore clean air in California.

The program would mobilize the university's scientists in a coordinated attack against a "smog cloud increasing 10 times faster than the population," said Dr. Charles J. Hitch, president of the nine-campus university system.

He declared it was evident that all efforts so far to restore clean air have been inadequate and in many areas ineffective.

"Previous predictions of clean air in another decade through present approaches to air pollution no longer hold," he said in a statement.

"The pall of the smog cloud spreads over a geographic area 20 times larger in square miles than before."

Hitch's proposal for research development of a "total air pollution control system" will be submitted to the University Board of Regents meeting in Los Angeles Thursday.

He proposed immediate studies in these areas: removal or reduction of lead in gasoline, changing the composition of auto fuels, vehicle inspection, used car controls, taxing air polluters, halting pollution by power plants.

Hitch asked the Legislature to provide $200,000 to $300,000 immediately to organize the program.

He said $3.3 million more would be needed in the next fiscal year. Another $6 million to $10 million in follow-through appropriations would be required through June 30, 1975.

The program calls for a statewide conference on air pollution next summer to analyze in depth the technology available and to chart future controls.

Decisions then would be made on what kinds of research could be carried out best on the separate campuses and which should be worked on by the statewide Air Pollution Research Center on the UC-Riverside campus.

King's Body Removed To Church Site

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The body of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was removed from Southview Cemetery Monday night and interred adjacent to the Ebenezer Baptist church, in accordance with his widow's wishes.

The transfer was the first step toward permanent entombment in the Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Park, which is to be built.

Mrs. King, with the approval of the board of trustees of the Memorial Center, decided this was an appropriate time to transfer her husband's body and officially inaugurate the site Jan. 15—King's 41st birthday anniversary.

A service commemorating King's life and work will be held Thursday noon at his church, the Ebenezer Baptist. After the service, those attending will file past the new crypt.

The transfer was made at night, without fanfare, "as a matter of taste and dignity," Mrs. King said.

Help In Replacing Of Instruments Is Asked

The Sausalito School board last night called for public assistance in raising money to replace musical instruments stolen from Martin Luther King School late last year.

Board member Martha Freebairn-Smith told the board the musical instruments were valued at $2,696. There was no insurance on the instruments.

She said that the San Francisco Cambium Fund had agreed to match any funds up to $500 the district was able to raise to replace the equipment. She suggested the board might be able to make up the difference in the cost of replacement.

Persons wishing to contribute should send their checks payable to the Sausalito School District Music Fund to the district office, 630 Nevada Street, Sausalito, Mrs. Freebairn-Smith said.

Car Theft, Burglary Charges Are Denied

John Davis, 37, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of car theft and burglary. A jury trial was set for the week of Feb. 9.

Davis was arrested Dec. 24 by San Rafael police after he was seen loading food and household articles into a car in front of 60 Villa Avenue.

Bench Warrant Set For Army Deserter

A bench warrant with bail set at $3000 was issued yesterday in Marin Superior Court for Stephen John Borner, 22, an Army deserter who is charged with possesing barbiturates illegally last March 31 in Sausalito.

It was reported yesterday in court that Borner, who was arrested last month on an earlier bench warrant, was released on his own recognizance from Marin County Jail and through an error was not turned over to Army officials who had placed a hold on him.

Did Panther Escape Raid In Chicago?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Did a Black Panther escape the Dec. 4 police rain in which two Panther leaders were slain and seven arrested?

An attorney for the family of the late Illinois Panther leader Fred Hampton raised that possibility Monday in questioning the leader of the raid before a blue ribbon, Cook County coroner's jury investigating the incident.

Meanwhile, the raid leader, Sgt. Daniel Groth, said he now felt that slain Panther Mark Clark of Peoria had fired the first shot. In his earlier testimony, Groth said a woman, Brenda Harris, 18, had fired the first shot.

SEVEN ARRESTS

Seven persons were arrested in the West Side apartment, Hampton, 21, and Clark, 22, were slain in what police described as a shoot-out and Panthers described as "murder." None of the seven has agreed to appear before the coroner's jury because they face charges of attempting to murder the 14 Cook County state's attorney's policemen on the raid.

The possibility of an eighth Panther being in the apartment was raised when Panther attorney Francis asked Groth if he saw anybody "escape to the basement" through a large ventilator in the apartment "and out the east basement door."

CHANGES MIND

Groth replied he did not. After Monday's session, Andrew refused to say why he had asked the question.

Groth earlier had said Miss Harris had fired the first shot when police came to the apartment, but Monday he said, "I now believe that Mark Clark fired the first shot."

Groth said he changed his mind after a conversation with another policeman, James Davis, who kicked in the unlocked door to the apartment on his order, and after seeing photographs of a now-missing door panel through which the first shot allegedly was fired.

Davis, Groth testified, said that Clark was seated in a chair in the living room trying to put a shell into a shotgun as the door was flying open. Groth said Clark's shot flew through the door panel and into the wall near the ceiling of the vestibule. However, police have found no shells in the wall.

Groth said police were notified sometime after the raid that the door panel was missing. The apartment was not sealed immediately after the raid, and Groth said police believed the Panthers took the panel.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Claims Charged

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Daily Oklahoman quotes an Army enlisted man from Oklahoma City as saying he has been charged with murder and assault with intent to commit murder during the alleged massacre of civilians at My Lai, South Vietnam.

Army Spec. 4 Franklin Williams, 22, now stationed at Ft. Hood, Tex., said by telephone today, the newspaper said, that he was advised of the charges by his executive officer "one day last week."

He said he was not in detention and was speaking from his barracks.

Army spokesmen at Washington and Ft. Hood said they knew nothing of any charges against Williams.

Whales Spotted

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP) — A growing herd of pilot whales has been spotted a mile off the beach where more than 100 of the black-skinned mammals lie buried in sandy graves after suicidally swimming ashore.

Officer Gerry Rogers of the State Department of Natural Resources said an airplane pilot spotted the whales Monday afternoon.

Rogers speculated the mammals were stragglers from a herd of some 200 that swam ashore Sunday.

The conservation officer said the second group had given no indication they would make a dash for the beach.

"Maybe they're regrouping and will choose a new leader," said Rogers.

Reject Offer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Indians on Alcatraz Island have rejected a government offer to pay five Indian men as caretakers if some 50 others on the 21-acre Rock in San Francisco Bay will leave.

"If they can pay for five, they can pay for 100," said Stella Leach, spokesman for an Indian council which conferred with federal officials Monday.

The Indians, who moved onto the island Nov. 20, have presented requests to the government for emergency hospital equipment, telephone installations, a boat, two trucks, maintenance work on plumbing and electricity, and other things to improve life in the abandoned prison buildings.

Terrorists Killed

BANKKOK (AP) — Five Thai terrorists were killed and one American airman was wounded when a band of terrorists attacked the Ubon Air Base early today, the Thai military command announced.

The U.S. 8th Tactical Fighter Wing is based at Ubon.

The Thai command said the attackers cut a barbed wire fence and tried to destroy planes and ground facilities at the base in northeast Thailand.

They exchanged fire with guards for about 15 minutes. Five terrorists' bodies and three automatic weapons were found after the fight, the Thais said. They did not identify the wounded American.

To Seek Arrest

L'AQUILA, Italy (AP) — A local public prosecutor said Monday he would issue a warrant for the arrest of the auxiliary bishop of Munich in connection with the reprisal killing of 17 Italians during World War II.

Prosecutor Armando Troise told a news conference he would charge the Most Rev. Matthias Defregger with either mass murder or homicide. He said he would decide which after conferring next week with the Munich public prosecutor, who announced last August that an investigation of the incident did not justify placing charges against the bishop.

The warrant could not be enforced outside Italy, but it would make Defregger liable to arrest any time he crossed the border.

LONDON (AP)— Pan American Airways cut short its jumbo jet's maiden trip to Europe today, giving in to bad weather and engine troubles.

The airline ordered Capt. Jess Tranter to take off this afternoon for New York, canceling visits to Frankfurt, Rome, Paris and Lisbon.

Fairfax Clerk To Get Extra Help

Fairfax city councilmen and citizenry talked over many sore old issues last night, but generally managed to keep cool.

Chief exception, and the cause of the evening's only split vote, was the council's decision to ease the duties of City Clerk-Administrator Francis Lestanguet by hiring additional part-time help to take minutes of the council meeting and sessions of the planning commission and other town bodies.

Councilman Frank J. Egger argued, "I've felt all along the city needs a professional administrator," and objected that adding part-time clerk help would offset economies gained by reducing the staff when City Administrator David J. Sumbardo departed in 1968. Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson backed Egger, arguing that Sumbardo's controversial departure cut the city's office staff by one third.

Councilman Cornelis Van Vliet, who proposed the part-time help additions, termed Egger's stand "so much baloney," although Egger argued that many long-standing problems were receiving no action from the administrator's office.

Result of more than 30 minutes debate was approval of the extra help and shifting of funds to cover the cost for the rest of the fiscal year, by a 3-2 vote with Eggers and Wilson opposing.

Heeding a plea by Fairfax Festival organizers not to "let us go on for months" with planning for the 1970 version and "then pull the rug out from under us," the council agreed that if the committee and Police Chief James Orr could work out problems of adequate policing, there should be no objection to a toned-down repeat of last year's event, minus the concentration of rock music that councilmen felt attracted thousands of youth—some of whom turned unruly.

The council also debated at considerable length the Fairfax Community Congress resolutions prepared by the congress last month and presented last night by chairman Joseph Walla.

The council acted to appoint Mayor Francis J. O'Connell, City Clerk-Administrator Lestanguet, Streets Supt. Edgar Phillips and Walla to a committee to see whether federal funds are available to lower the parkade and landscape the downtown area, and to report in February to the council.

After considerable debate, the council directed Mrs. Lestanguet to prepare "hopefully with San Anselmo's cooperation," a report on the advantages and disadvantages of combined services for the two cities, and possible merger, which was recommended by the congress.

The council set a cleanup inspection tour for Jan. 24 to implement another of the congress' resolutions on litter, the need to abate noise and other environmental questions.

Other resolutions concerning the town's need for recognition of teen-agers' rights, citizen communication and the need for a chamber of commerce were endorsed by the council.

The Fairfax City Council also:

Major Tax Reform Plan Before Senate

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A major tax reform, designed to slash property taxes in half and turn all welfare and education costs over to the state, is before the Senate today.

Sen. James Q. Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, outlined the proposal Monday. He would finance it by introducing income tax with-holding and a 50 per cent income tax surcharge.

In that respect, Wedworth's plan is especially different from the tax reform proposals now being drawn up by the Reagan administration for submission to the legislature later this month.

Reagan has proposed offsetting lower property taxes with increased sales and income taxes.

Another Democratic Senator also proposed shifting the welfare burden from the counties to the states Monday. Sen. Alfred E. Alquist of San Jose introduced a measure to increase minimum welfare payments by nearly one third. It also included an automatic cost-of-living increase in welfare payments, which have not been increased since 1957.

Under Wedworth's plan, revenue would be increased by a new 50 per cent income surtax, a one per cent gross receipts tax, a one per cent tax on check and credit card transactions, a three per cent levy on agriculture and utilities, and an increased bank and corporation taxes, going from seven to 10 per cent.

These would be partly offset by a cut in the sales tax from four to three per cent, a one per cent limit on all local property taxes and a 100 per cent exemption for business inventories, compared to the present 30 per cent.

Wedworth said his plan would mean a $2.5 million drop in property taxes.

He also said the main purpose of his package was to create a good business climate.

"That is why this measure exempts retailers, wholesalers, and manufacturers from the sales and use taxes and abolishes the business inventory tax," he said.

Wedworth's proposal is almost identical to the one he filed last year.

Belvedere Doctor Resigns Dean's Post At School

Dr. Stuart C Cullen of Belvedere has resigned as dean of the school of Medicine at the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center, effective June 30, or whenever a replacement is ready to assume the job.

Dr. Cullen said he planned to return to more active teaching, clinical care and other administrative activities, the public information office at the center reported.

Chancellor Philip R. Lee said Dr. Cullen had been a key figure in the advances made by the school during the past decade, particularly in its successful effort in the past year to recruit and enroll minority students.

Dr. Cullen appointed to the University of California faculty in 1958 as professor and chairman of the department of anesthesiology, was named dean of the School of Medicine in 1966.

A Solution To Smog Problem

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sen. Tom Carrell, a Southern California auto dealer, has a drastic solution to the auto congestion and smog problems: Make car manufacturers buy back and destroy old models.

Carrell, D-San Fernando, introduced legislation Monday to require auto vehicle manufacturers selling cars in California to buy and destroy one currently-operative car without a pollution control device for every four new cars sold on the California market.

If passed and signed into law his bill would require the State Air Resources Board to police the rule.

However, Carrell would keep the "destroy-to-sell" law in effect only for a three-year period, starting Jan. 1, 1971, and ending on Dec. 31, 1973.

BUSES

athletic events, and that charging fares led to hazardous hitchhiking and absenteeism and tardiness.

Until the change this year, West Marin students were bussed free while pupils elsewhere in the rambling district paid commute bus fares, ranging up to $1 a day.

Under the new policy, students pay a uniform fare throughout the district, under a district contract with Greyhound Bus Co., except from those from public housing in Marin City. They ride free because of low family income.

Mrs. Wallace reminded the audience that the board has to consider all of the district's 6,000 students, as well as "the 100" who lost free transportation.

Trustee David D. Ring said students are now paying below commute fares and there is service to areas that didn't have service before. The former system was inconsistent and inequitable, he contended.

Trustees said free transportation would be provided in hardship cases and agreed to consider limiting the fee requirement to one ticket per family.

One parent, with three children in high school, said: "I don't consider myself a poverty case and I can't pay $30 a month (the cost for three students.)"

Trustees also agreed to check the possibility of using elementary school buses in the Stinson Beach-Bolinas-Muir Beach area to transport high school students.

Mentioned as a possible long-range solution was a countywide school transportation system, elementary school through junior college, under the administration of the Marin County Schools Office, and financed by a special transportation tax.

Edward Z. Lewis, chairman of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach School District board, pointed out that the San Rafael, Novato, Shoreline and Petaluma high school districts provide free transportation to students.

"We provide free transportation to this school," he said, and suggested that there could be combined use of Bolinas-Stinson Beach District buses for high school and elementary pupils.

Attorney Thomas J. Barfield of Bolinas said there had been a promise to the area to provide free transportation, but Richard V. Godino, assistant county counsel, said he hadn't found any proof that the high school district was compelled to provide it.

"We know what we were promised," said Barfield.

Hugh Dougherty, president of the Stinson Beach Improvement Club, said the proportion of residents on welfare in Bolinas and Stinson Beach was "two to three times" that in the county as a whole, and "a case could be made we can't afford it nearly as well as others."

Final Work On Harbor Oil Slick

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Crews in 11 boats today began skimming up the last remnants of an oil slick seven miles long which invaded San Diego Harbor during the weekend.

Crews began mop up operations Sunday on the slick which extended from the mouth of the bay to the San Diego-Coronado Bridge.

The oil was described as being thin and irridescent and interspersed with tar. The Coast Guard said the source of the oil was unknown. Tests on samples of the slick were being conducted by the Fish and Game Department and the Water Pollution Control Board.

Parents Sue In Handling Of Addict

The parents of a 20-year-old drug user filed suit yesterday in Marin Superior Court charging that the Community Mental Health Center had illegally detained their son and asking for an accounting of his treatment.

William P. G. Chapin and his wife, Eleanor O'Hara Chapin, a former Sausalito councilman, said in the suit that the center should have sent their son, Mark O'Hara Chapin, to Mendocino State Hospital, where he had been treated effectively in the past.

Instead, the youth, who suffers from drug intoxication resulting from use of LSD and methedrine, has been sent to Napa State Hospital, according to the suit.

Furthermore, the Chapins charge, they only learned about their son's whereabouts "informally and virtually by accident."

Center officials have refused to inform the Chapins of the results of evaluations of the youth, the suit claims.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday signed an order for center officials to appear in court Monday to show cause why they should not account for the youth's treatment and why they have sent him to Napa.

According to the suit, an order for evaluation of young Chapin at the center was signed by Judge Wilson last Nov. 26. It was understood at that time that he would be committed to Mendocino, according to the Chapins.

Chapin said his son was found on Dec. 10 on the University of California campus at Berkeley in a "disoriented state of mind." Sausalito police picked him up from Berkeley police and he was taken to the mental health center pursuant to Judge Wilson's order.

Mrs. Chapin charges in the suit that when she called the center that night, she was dealt with rudely by a doctor who castigated her for disturbing him and said the order was out of date. The youth was nonetheless admitted to the hospital.

On Dec. 22 he was transferred to Napa State Hospital.

other youths from the university property they turned into "People's Park," Heyns said, "I am sure there are still lots of people unhappy about the position I took.

"But I don't see anything I could have done that I would have done differently given the circumstances."

The last serious incident at Berkeley was last July 14, the French Bastille Day, on which student protestors assaulted the fence around "People's Park" with wirecutters and were drven back by police tear gas.

Heyns said his decision is pending on whether to allow Dan Siegel, student body president-elect to assume his post. Siegel was denied the office last year when he was charged with inciting youths to assault Pople's Park. He was acquitted of the charges in court.

Commenting on a California academic plan put forward by a university committee, the chancellor said there will be a "slight shift" in emphasis from liberal arts to the physical sciences in the future.

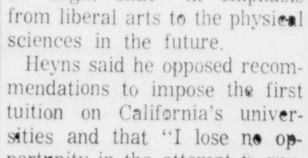

Heyns said he opposed recommendations to impose the first tuition on California's universities and that "I lose no opportunity in the attempt to persuade everyone involved that tuition is not the solution to the state's financial burden.

"Yet, if that is decided as the only solution, then I will resign myself to it."

that and I am dedicated to that kind of campaign."

Reagan's only comment was this prepared statement issued by his press office: "It is a matter for the Democratic party to consider and that is their problem."

One Alioto aide said he believes Unruh virtually has the Democratic nomination cinched.

There was immediate speculation about Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, the maverick Democrat who backed Republican Richard Nixon for president and who has supported other Republicans at times.

"A lot of people are urging me to run for governor," Yorty added, "and naturally I am listening to what they have to say. But I have just finished one intensive campaign and I don't like to plan on running for office every year."

Veteran State Sen. Randolph Collier from Yreka and Dr. S. I. Hayakawa also have been mentioned as possible candidates. Hayakawa is giving serious consideration to running for the U.S. Senate seat held by Republican Sen. George Murphy.

body president said he had asked for $1.4 million in supplemental funds for the poor and minority students.

Reagan invited the student leaders to submit nominations of students for appointments to Cal Expo advisory committee, the state Veterans Board and six environment and quality of life commissions and boards.

He said there were "no views expressed other than acceptance" of the plan, which he said was intended to involve students in state government.

Regan said his next session with the students will be expanded to include student body presidents plus one other student from each campus.

ONE AMONG MILLIONS IN PERIL

World relief officials said today up to a million Biafrans could starve to death within 48 hours unless help is rushed to the province which just surrendered to federal Nigerian troops, ending a 30-months civil war. This youngster is one of a few thousand war zone children who have been receiving a daily cup of milk through UNICEF. (See also story on page 1.)

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Which Is Home For Lawsuits?

In sports, playing on the home field has its advantages. But how about lawsuits?

If If Mr. Calvin, a Californian claims that Mr. George from Washington state owes him money, he can sue George either in a Washington court or in a federal court, but not in California. Our courts lack jurisdiction over Mr. George. He need not defend his suit here.

But Cal can sue in California if George does any business whatever here which gives rise to the debt.

Or suppose an out-of-state driver on our highway hurts a local person, or he does business here whicch harms somebody. Then the local resident can sue him in a California court, if the business has any outlet, agent, or representative here.

Recently tthe Supreme Court had this case: Willie, who worked in a service station, got hurt by an air pressure tank explosion. On the tank a metal plate said:: "The Buckeye Boiler Company, Ohio, built 1960 - 150 lbs., Maximum."

Willie sued the Buckeye Company in a California court and tried to serve papers on it through the California Secretary of State. Buckeye claimed California lacked jurisdiction since the company had no agent, office, or sales representative here. Nor did it advertise its tanks here. All it did was now and then ship tanks to a South San Francisco company which put them into boilers, lifts, etc.

Still, said th Supreme Court, this much was enough to make it "present" in the state for purposes of a lawsuit.

Courts sometimes also look at the "forum conveniens." Granting some business activity here, would tthe fact that the witnesses and others involved with the lawsuit are here make it more convenient to hear the case in California? As a practical matter, if Willie is to get any damages, his case would have to come up in California. He could not afford to go to Ohio, and pay

Aussie Tomatoes Hit Agnew's Car At Rites

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI) —A protest barrage of tomatoes spattered on the bullet-proof surface of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's unoccupied limousine today while Agnew inspected the honor roll of Australians killed on active service.

Agnew arrived in Canberra from Bali, Indonesia on the 10th stop of his 11-nation Asian goodwill tour with his wife Judy. They were greeted at the airport by Prime Minister John C. Gorton and his American-born wife Bettina.

In Auckland, New Zealand, the Hotel Intercontinental where Agnew will stay later this week was shaken by an explosion today. Police investigators failed to find the casue or evidence of damage. Anti-Vietnam War demonstrators also tried to blow up a small arms depot but failed.

Heavy security was in effect as Agnew rode from the Fairbairn air force base to Australia's war memorial monument to lay a wreath, the first official event during his 43-hour stay in Australia. He leaves Thursday for Auckland, New Zealand.

A promised "boisterous" demonstration by members of the Vietnam Moratorium Committee failed to materialize. Scattered shouts of "Fascist pig" and "go home Spiro" were drowned out by the cheers of the majority of a crowd assembled at the monument.

Police said the demonstrators, who carried North Vietnamese flags and few placards, numbered no more than 40. Five demonstrators—four men and a woman—were hauled away after a brief scuffle with police when they apparently tried to get closer to Agnew.

The vice president ignored the incident and the tomatoes that splashed against his car just before he returned to it from the wreath-laying ceremony.

In an arrival statement, Agnew urged the more advanced nations of the Pacific to take the lead and help less developed neighbors in the area. He said that the United States is a Pacific power and will fulfill its commitments to Asian countries. Agnew predicted that the 1970s will be a period of challenge and opportunity and said that cooperation for peaceful development can overcome what he termed appalling conditions still confronting many Pacific countries.

"Many problems transcend national borders and the more advanced and fortunate must take the lead," he said.

The tight security surrounding Agnew was criticized by the Australian, the nation's only nationally circulating newspaper. It said that Agnew's stay in Australia had been turned into a "nonevent" by the guard that will isolate him from the people.

Psychologists To Help On Park Plans

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission said last night it will use psychologists and landscape architects to assist in master planning city parks.

Ronald E Rasmussen, commission chairman, reported that the psychology department at Sonoma State College would be used in analyzing questionnaires on park development returned by residents.

The commission also said it will interview nine landscape architectural firms next week and select a master planner by Jan. 26, Rasmussen reported.

Rasmussen said that administrators from the Cotati and Petaluma school districts will assist in planning parks adjacent to school sites.

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission also:

TEEN DANCES — Heard a report that teen-age dances will be scheduled soon with local bands competing for the privilege of entertaining.

ICE SKATING — Said it would get in touch with the Redwood Empire Ice Arena in Santa Rosa to arrange ice skating classes for Rohnert Park youths.

BASEBALL — Renewed an agreement with the Babe Ruth baseball league to organize play again this summer.

Ladies Can Become Barners' Customers

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — In tune with the times, the state attorney general's office says nothing in Kentucky law prevents beauticians from having male customers.

Neither can barbers be kept from cutting hair of women, although state legislation apparently assumed beauticians would be for women and barbers for men, the office said in response to a query from the head of the state Board of Hairdressers and Cosmetologists.

Witnesses To Friday's Murder Being Sought

Lt. Guido Battaglia of the Marin Sheriff's Department today asked persons who witnessed the fatal shooting of James E. Bork at the Town and Country Shopping Center in Strawberry Friday night to call him.

"There must be additional people who either saw the shooting or who saw the suspects in the center," he said.

Battaglia said that his men were still interviewing witnesses today and hoped to "put a case together soon."

Bork's slayer fled after pumping two pistol shots into his victim outside the Polynesian House.

Although at first it appeared that the murderer, who was accompanied by another man, had picked Bork, 38-year-old Sausalito bartender, at random, Battaglia said yesterday that he may have mistaken Bork for another man whom he had earlier tried to provoke.

The murderer is also suspected of committing an armed robbery later in the evening at a market in Tamalpais Valley.t

Eel Aqueduct Study Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., said Monday serious study should be made of a proposed aqueduct to transport surplus water from northern California to southern California.

A preliminary report by the Reclamation Bureau indicates that water from the Eel and Klamath rivers could be delivered to southern California through a 32-foot diameter plastic pipeline, he said.

Cost, he said, would be competitive with alternative sources or about $77 an acre foot.

Hosmer said a detailed feasibility study would cost about $2.2 million and take five to six yers.

Sanitary Board, Bahia Differ On Plant Size

Charles Joseph, engineer-manager of the Novato Sanitary District, said today the district and developers of the Bahia Subdivision at Bugeia Lane cannot agree on standard for the development's treatment plant.

Under a 1964 agreement, Joseph told the board last night, Morris Finley, former developer of the subdivision, constructed a treatment plant with a capacity to handle 500 homes at treatment standards of that time. Since then, he said, the development has changed hands to present owners, Bahia Del Norte Inc. Meanwhile, standards of effluent for the Novato Sanitary District have been raised by the San Francisco Bay Region Water Quality Control Board.

Present developers say the original agreement is still vaild and any plant changes should be made by the district. The board voted last night, however, to require the developer to increase the capacity of the plant, Joseph said.

The Novato Sanitary District Board also:

ANNEXATION — Approved annexation of approximately one acre of land on the north side of Vineyard Road at Sun Lane for Robert Hune, pending approval of the Local Agency Formation Commission.

EASEMENT — Accepted deeds of easements for a future interceptor main on Franklin Avenue from the City of Novato, Robert and Sarah Tuckey and Anthony and Joseph Nunes.

BEAUTIFICATION —Agreed to contribute $656 to the Novato Beautification committee as the district's share in the fall clean-up campaign.

California Leads Nation For Eggs

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Because today's hens are livelier than ever, the consumer benefits, says a chicken expert.

Layers, according to statistics compiled by Dr. Milo H. Swanson, poultry specialist at the University of California here, are turning out 219 eggs a year, 63 per cent more than their 1940 counterparts.

In 1949 the average retail price for a dozen "Grade-A-Large" eggs was 69 cents. Today it's under 60 cents, Swanson said.

The nation's biggest "egg basket"? Riverside County which led all areas of the country with almost 7.5 million layers in 1968, the last year for available statistics.

Swanson says California has paved the way since 1959 when it outdistanced its nearest competitor, Georgia, by 66 per cent.

In 1968 California produced 12 per cent of the nation's eggs.

SANTA MONICA (AP) — Superior Court trial for actor James Brown on a charge of felonious assault was set Monday for Feb. 2.

Brown, 33, former Cleveland Browns fullback, is accused of driving his car into Arthur Charles Brush, 52, and throwing the man to the ground after he jumped on the hood of Brown's car Aug. 1 following a minor traffic accident.

Besides assault, the actor also faces charges of misdemeanor battery and leaving the scene of an accident.

Southland Shuts Off Water Pipe

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bet you didn't notice Monday that you had less water to draw on than you did Sunday.

The Metropolitan Water District closed its Colorado River aqueduct Monday for four days of cleaning the tunnels, conduits and open canal.

MWD officials said water storage in all areas is more than adequate to fill the needs of users during the shutdown. The aqueduct supplies more than one billion gallons of water daily to MWD member agencies in Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego and Ventura counties.

Police said the girl was spotted by a store employee taking a pair of slacks at 3 p.m. The needles were found in the girl's purse after a store guard placed her under citizen's arrest and summoned police.

HELP TAKE THE PRESSURE-PAIN OUT OF PILES

By easing the itching, burning irritation of elimination...inside and out

Hemorrhoid sufferers, you really know how "flare-ups" can produce burning, irritation and discomfort. Regularity can bring further pressure and pain. Constipation is even worse! Doctors may prescribe an aid, like a stool softener, as part of their treatment, when surgery is not called for.

That's why new COUNTERNOID™ is so important. It's a formula that works as no other hemorrhoid remedy can:

1. COUNTERNOID's effective anti-pain drug eases sore, sensitive tissue for hours.
2. At the same time, COUNTERNOID acts to soothe and protect inflamed areas.
3. COUNTERNOID then actually softens even hard stools for easier passage.

By interrupting the friction-swelling-pain cycle of elimination, in many cases, COUNTERNOID lets swollen, inflamed tissue shrink...naturally.

COUNTERNOID, clinically tested by doctors, is now available from your pharmacist. Available in suppository and white cream form.

Fairfield Mayor Is Likely Senate Runner

I-J SPECIAL REPORT

FAIRFIELD — A third entry into the Republican primary for the seat held by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, is expected tomorrow by Fairfield Mayor Don Pinkerton.

Pinkerton unsuccessfully challenged Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Vallejo, in 1968. Pinkerton owns hardware stores in Fairfield and Vacaville.

Former Marin supervisor Peter H. Behr announced his candidacy yesterday, and Raymond H. Shone of Nicasio, McCarthy's long-time campaign manager, announced his last Thursday, two days after McCarthy disclosed he would not run again.

MAFIA IN CALIFORNIA

Eye On Signs Of New Activity

(Second in a Series)

By ROBERT M. SHAW

SACRAMENTO (AP) — As a younger generation comes of age, California Mafia-watchers are keeping an eye out for signs of activity in new areas of business.

Some law enforcement officials believe the children of old-time Mafia figures are trying to make an honest living, but that doesn't keep them above suspicion.

The organized crime unit of the state attorney general's office has collected information—which it considers confidential — on more than 500 individuals. Some of them are only distant relatives of underworld figures.

After its first year of operation the unit issued a report in which it said, "The ostensible activities of organized crime oftentimes take the form of non-criminal conduct.

"Specifically, the most frequent occurrence along these lines is the investment of illegally obtained funds in businesses operating under the law or obtaining control of legitimate businesses through extortion and other means."

This is about the same conclusion drawn nearly 20 years ago by the "Special Crime Study Commission on Organized Crime."

In its final report dated Nov. 15, 1950, the commission said, "Evidence has very often indicated that certain criminal gangs have close connections with a number of legitimate businesses, or at least with what appears to be legitimate businesses."

The 1950 report added, "Reports have been received to the effect that in some instances legitimate businesses are used as concealment for criminal activity. Other reports have suggested the heavy investment of profits from crime in legitimate business enterprises. Still other reports indicate the infiltration of legitimate businesses by gangsters partly through investment and partly through threats and occasional violence."

California has always had its share of hoodlums, but the West Coast is practically a frontier for the Eastern brand of organized crime, which ignored it until the area began to attract immigrants from the East and Midwest.

A sociologist and leading criminologist, Donald R. Cressey of the University of California at Santa Barbara, explains this gives organized crime on the West Coast a flavor different than that on the East Coast.

In a paper presented in 1966 to the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice, Cressey said, "In the United States, the confederation is not as dominant in the West as in the East because at the critical period of decision-making there was no one in the West to make decisions."

He added, "Now that the western cities overlooked in the 1930s have become economically and politically important, they have been designated 'open areas' by organized criminals. Nevada is the best example of open territory — anyone can operate there, and almost everyone does."

The chief of the Los Angeles County district attorney's office intelligence division, Capt. Clayton Anderson, said "Mafia activity is usually found in highly populated areas. Since we are larger than most areas we would have some of it."

But Anderson's boss, Dist. Atty. Evelle Younger, says the Mafia "not been a major problem" in California in recent years "as far as I know — at least not in the South."

Anderson said organized crime in California "is not organized to the extent that it is in the East. Back there they maintain a virtual monopoly on certain illegal activities. Here we have Mafia activity, but there is no monopoly. Anyone can go out and be a loan shark. It's kind of open house."

Because of this, the California Mafia isn't considered as powerful, in terms of money or muscle, as families in the east.

The President's crime commission said in its 1967 report that there are 24 Mafia "core groups" in 17 states.

But California is missing from its list of "the wealthiest and most influential core groups." The list names New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Louisiana, Florida, Nevada, Michigan and Rhode Island.

One of the commission's advisers, Harvard economist Thomas C. Schelling, pointed out that "racketeering and the provision of illegal goods (like gambling) have been conspicuously neglected by economists."

Schelling said this is why there is no way of knowing — with accuracy — how much money organized crime brings in, or what its economic impact on society really is. And he suggests that such a study might reveal new ways of attacking organized crime.

Next: How the Mafia moves in on legitimate business.

Putting you first kept us first all through 1969.

Chevrolet again topped the best seller list. No. 1 in car and truck sales for the year 1969. That makes 10 consecutive years and a total of 33 years that we've taken first place honors. More people own Chevrolets because they get so much more out of them. More comfort, performance and value features when they buy them. More trouble-free miles the whole time they drive them. And traditionally more money back when they eventually sell them. You've proved again that "Putting you first, keeps us first."

Manufacturers Say Brides Turning To Romantic Gowns

By JANE ROGERS
London Express Service

Guess what the girls with weddings on the way are planning to wear when they walk down the aisle: exactly the kind of dress that their grandmothers wore, according to the people whose business it is to make bridal clothes.

After all the see-through wedding dresses, the mini-gowns, the mod brides of the past few years, today's girl is firmly set on something traditional, simple and, above all, romantic to wear.

The favorite fabrics for wedding gowns this year are satins and silks. Brocade is very much out of fashion, but silvery acetate with the look of wild silk, plain heavy satin, particularly in pearly colorings rather than icy white, and heavy ribbed grosgrain are all being used for full-skirted wedding gowns complete with train. The skirt that sweeps behind you up the aisle or has to be carried by bridesmaids has come back into fashion again.

"They're simply not considering the kind of dress that you can convert afterwards for dancing or dining out," a wedding-gown buyer said. "What my customers want now is a real wedding dress, the kind of gown that they can put away afterwards as an heirloom and bring it out to show their grandchildren in years to come."

Decoration on most of the gowns comes in the form of lace or applique flowers on the bodice, and around the cuffs. One with a Victorian look about it was made in georgette, had a diaphanous skirt and a bodice trimmed with a deep V of tiny frills and flowers with the same effect on the top of the sleeve. This is a particularly pretty style for the girl who has a trim waistline as it shows it off perfectly.

For winter weddings there seems to be a swing away from velvet for the dress itself. Instead they're making gowns in ribbed silk that button down the front like a coat and trimming the collar and the cuffs with white fur or marabou feathers.

For the very young bride there are some pretty dresses in organdy, cut very simply with most of the interest in the sleeves which are wide and transparent but ruched in tightly just at elbow level for a very pretty effect.

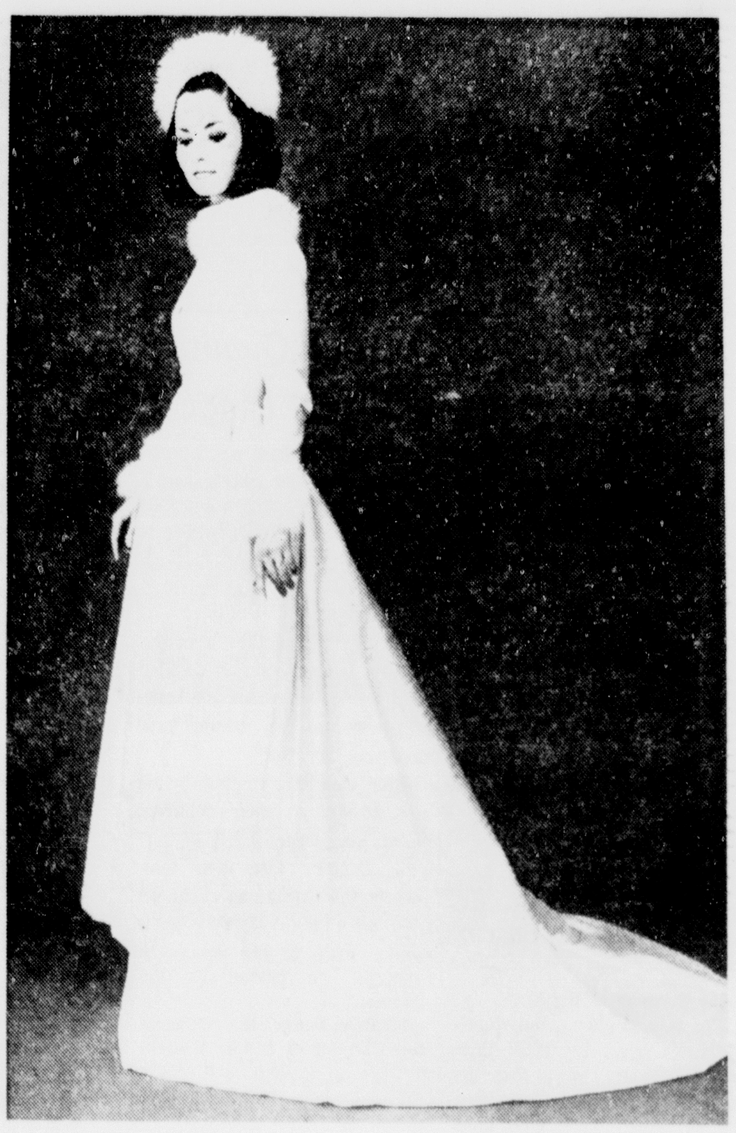

What about the girl who wants to look different from all the other traditional brides and means to make a real impact on her wedding day? For her there are several super trouser suits made from thick cotton lace which look very feminine and pretty. One has bell bottom trousers to give a pretty line that echoes that of a long skirt, a simple slightly flared tunic top and tight sleeves that flare out from elbow to wrist.

The girl who is being in a civil ceremony rather than a church needn't miss out on the romantic stakes. One idea for her is a very pretty mini-dress in lace, topped by a maxi coat. Another is a maxi dress that is cut, Edwardian style, to look like a suit but made up in a soft crepe fabric.

To go with wedding gowns the traditional wedding veil is very much in fashion but with a plain band to hold it on the bride's head rather than a circle of flowers. Girls who choose something rather more tailored to wear are matching it up with a large floppy hat in white felt, which is up-to-date and pretty at the same time.

Wedding day make-up needs care. It's so easy to arrive at the altar looking flushed and hot. So pick a creamy foundation, paler than you would normally use and make sure it is one that will stay put without too much re-touching during the hours ahead. One bride made a miniature purse to match her wedding dress material, just large enough to hold a hanky, a lipstick and a compact. It had a chain handle which she slipped over her wrist and she hid it under her bouquet. There's an idea worth copying.

Designer Raps Ghosts Of Past

By ANN HENCKEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Revivals are wrong in fashion, says designer Ole Borden for Rembrandt.

He jumped into the controversy over the reminiscent mood in spring clothes Thursday at the spring showings of the New York Couture Business Council, Inc.

"Taking your inspiration from the past is wrong. If you don't move with the times, you shouldn't be a designer," he said, adding that he found his inspiration in modern art galleries.

Hemlines will remain short for a long time, he said, and the midi is not good for today. But at the end of his showing, he compromised and brought out one romantic lacy beige midi with red sash—for women who insist on the longer look.

His lines are clean and precise. Consistent use of the raised waist and snug bodice gives the figure full, lush proportions.

Skirts fall softly out from the body—in swirling gores or gentle, gathered folds. The only time the raised waist doesn't work is on a jump-suit. It gives a balloon effect from midriff to thighs.

"We are going to grow more beautiful bodies," he said. "There will be very little excuse for anything over a size 14." He dropped necklines into modest rounded scallops, predicting more skin exposure.

Despite Borden's statement on forward-looking fashions, the collection is not exactly visionary. Borden opts for a conservative look with a nice-girl, country club feeling. But he does it well.

His colors are clean and clear —often intensified by white. They will look great with a summer tan. Little summer dresses are whiter-than-white. Warm brown souffle tones are set against white in geometric patterns—or played around pink in larger-than-life florals.

White Maypole dresses break into streamers at empire or hip levels. Prices are $75 to $140.

Naman Rainwear joined the hemline debate with experiments in all lengths. A midi rain suit with Eisenhower jacket almost looked right. A white maxi coat with big fur collar and cuffs, glowed with a Jean Harlow glamour.

Enormous kangaroo pockets were blocked into full-backed short-coats. A patchwork cotton —moving into superstar status —was paired with a gigantic patchwork umbrella. Billed as an "umbrella for two," it could double as a deadly weapon when furled.

OLE BORDEN designed this white Maypole dress for Rembrandt and set it with a fluttery overskirt of streamers. Designer Heads The Rebekahs

Mrs. Homer Skinner, having served as vice noble grand last year, is the new noble grand of Mill Valley's Blythedale Rebekah Lodge 305. She has progressed through other posts to this top office.

A member of the lodge since 1947, she is a past president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Canton 39 of San Rafael, a lodge related to the Odd Fellows.

Projects to which the new noble grand will continue to give special attention are the Children's Home in Gilroy, the Odd Fellows Home in Saratoga, a youth camp for boys in Sonora and activities in connection with the Blood Bank and Heart Fund.

She was married after graduating from high school in Okmulgee, Okla.

Ethel Skinner studied clothing and fashion design in New York City before she and her husband came to Mill Valley when he obtained a federal Civil Service position at Ft. Mason in San Francisco.

Now a widow, Mrs. Skinner has had her own dress shop, Ethel's Fashions in Mill Valley for the past 15 years. She has two married daughters, Mrs. John Landrock of San Rafael, who has a son and daughter; and Mrs. Dalton Woods of Houston, Tex., who has three daughters and two sons.

The new noble grand says she enjoys designing clothes and gardening more than anything else. She is a member of the Mill Valley United Methodist Church and its Wesleyan Service Guild, of which she is a past president, and sings in the church choir.

Other new officers are Miss Arlene Snyder, vice noble grand; Mrs. Jacob Claussen, recording secretary; Mrs. Roland Healy, financial secretary; and Mrs. Albert Hughes, treasurer.

Cook Meat At Low Temperature

NEW YORK (UPI)—When cooking meats and other foods high in protein content, a low to medium temperature is recommended.

The National Live Stock and Meat Board says high temperatures and overcooking will yield less tender, dry roasts or steaks with less meat for family consumption.

Scientists Study Effects Of World On Newborn Tots

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Two scientists are trying to determine what effect changes in body temperature, hormones, oxygen level and other aspects of the outside world have on the newborn baby.

Dr. Richard J. Schain of the Mental Retardation Center at the University of California at Los Angeles and Miss Shizuko K. Watanabe are using rats and guinea pigs in an effort to pin down factors which could cause brain damage in infants, especially those born prematurely.

The animal studies indicate that maintaining body temperature may be more important than giving oxygen during the critical time immediately after the infant is born.

But Dr. Schain says the question of what temperature is the best for survival and brain development is still not determined.

The researchers also have found what they describe as a sudden slowdown in the production of protein in the brains of newborn animals. The change, they say, appears to be connected to the birth process and may be linked to the fact that the baby is deprived of its mother's hormones. Newborn babies are deprived earlier and the scientists wonder if that could be a reason why premature infants have more neurological problems than full-term babies.

Plastic Takeover

Plastic items are rapidly taking over American homes. And not only are plastic silverware containers, water pitchers, glasses, trays, ketchup and mustard containers taking over private kitchens, they're also being used in increasing numbers in restaurants, hospitals, and other institutions.

Scientists know that the mother's placenta is a source of hormones which trigger the production of protein in the baby.

The experimenters use newborn rats and guinea pigs. Rats are incompletely developed when born, helping to give insight into premature humans. Guinea pigs, born with more development, help provide more knowledge of full-term babies.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Pick Girls With Lasting Qualities And Maybe They'll Last Longer

DEAR HELEN:

I am 17 and can't seem to keep a girl friend. I don't have all those things the commercials warn against. I try not to be boring. I spend money on them. We have great times, and then wham-o, they're gone.

This has happened three times and the last was the worst. I thought Doreen really liked me but last night she said, "Sorry it had to be you, Doug, but I had to make my 'ex' jealous so he'd come back. He's back now. I know you understand."

I don't understand but I don't think I'll try any more. Why me?—BORN TO BE A BACHELOR

Dear B. To Be A B.:

I'm only guessing, but maybe you pick girls for their looks and popularity more than for their basic niceness—and "lasting" qualities. Such girls naturally sample a lot—they aren't ready to settle for one.

Why not play it their way for a while? I mean cool and hard-to-get. Date several girls casually but let 'em know they're just friends." It keeps them from getting too sure of themselves—and you free to choose the right one when she comes along. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

A guy I don't like asked me to go to the senior prom. It looks doubtful if anyone else will ask me as the fellow I'm wild about is taking another girl.

My girl friends say even a Delbert is better than staying home. Besides, I might be able to get the guy I like, if he sees me dressed up and dating.

I get the feeling I'm a last chance too. This Delbert thinks I'm a ding-a-ling, but it's the thing to go to the senior prom. Should I accept?—LAST CHANCE

Dear Last:

It doesn't seem honest: Dating a ding-a-ling so you can ring someone else's chimes. But if both you and the boy feel the same way, at least no one else will be hurt, and who knows, it could be the start of a beautiful friendship. A Delbert and a ding-aling might have a lot in common.—H.

Dear Helen:

During the holidays a couple of my friends and I decided we'd try to bring back the spirit of Christmas. We should have saved our breath!

After watching mothers yank and scream at their children, people gouge each other at bargain counters, lose their tempers in the Christmas rush, we tried saying "Merry Christmas!" with a big smile to everyone we passed on the street.

Honestly, we got the strangest stares. A lot of people thought we were up on dope, and others hurried by because I guess they figured we were going to hit them for a donation. Only about one in ten took our wish as it was intended—to let them know Christmas really should be merry. The rest were nothing but suspicious.

Is it so odd, trying to be nice to people? I've noticed at other times that if a teen tries to be friendly with an unknown adult, he's closed down fast. Seems to me if our elders would stop thinking, "Don't trust anyone under 20," the kids would stop saying "Don't trust anyone over 30." —PUT DOWN

Dear P.D.:

Right! — H.

First School Band Played In 1857

NEW YORK (UPI)—The first school band started making music 12 years before Princeton and Rutgers squared off in 1869 for the first, primitive attempt at American football.

The American Music Conference says the first band was a comb-and-string ensemble of homemade instruments organized in 1857 by the Boston Farm and Trades School. A year later, musicians playing brass instruments joined this Boston band. Today there are 48,000 school bands in America

FLORIDA RETURNS TO NORMAL

Two surfers ride the waves shoreward at Miami Beach, while a passenger ship in the background heads for port after a cruise in the Bahamas. Balmy weather returning to Florida yesterday brought out surfers who had huddled indoors during the three-day weekend cold spell which tumbled thermometers to the freezing mark. (AP Wirephoto)

Former Petaluma Mayors Selected Leaders Of Bond Promotion Panel

Two former mayors were named last night to head a citizens committee to promote passage of the $1 million Petaluma bond election on March 3 for street and fire station improvements.

Arthur W. Parent and Norman Van Bebber were appointed by the city council as general chairmen. They said they would name committee heads to gather information and funds for the campaign.

Cecil G. Gealta, director of finance, said that passage of the bonds would add a maximum of 19.75 cents to the city tax rate of $1.65 per $100 assessed valuation.

Gealta said the tax cost might be a few cents lower if the bonds are sold at an interest rate lower than 7 per cent or if the assessed valuation is higher than the projected $42 million.

The election will include two measures totaling $1 million—fire station improvements, including a new station on South McDowell Boulevard and an addition to the central fire station—for $200,000, and street work totaling $800,000 to improve Caulfield Lane from South McDowell Boulevard to Highway 101, where the state Division of Highways will construct an overpass, and widening and realignment of Hopper Street to D Street.

The Petaluma City Council also:

TWO-AWAY — Introduced an emergency ordinance setting a tow-away zone. Resolutions could later be approved to apply the parking ban to specific streets.

INSURANCE — Heard a report that city employees had voted to join the Sonoma County health plan. The new plan will increase city payments per employee from $9.63 per month to $10.85, but reduce the cost of dependent coverage and increase hospital care benefits from $25 per day to $56 per day. The board of supervisors will consider allowing city employees to join the plan on Monday.

HOUSING AUTHORITY — Set a special meeting for Jan. 26 at 7:30 p.m. to hear a presentation by the Sonoma County Housing Committee on the need to study low cost housing.

SOILS TESTS — Introduced an ordinance asking subdividers to perform detailed soil investigations if preliminary tests show expansive soil that may later cause damage.

ENGINEER — Hired Renato G. Martinez of San Jose to do engineering work for the signal system at Magnolia Avenue and Petaluma Boulevard North at a maximum cost of $870.

PLANNING — Heard a report from William C. McGivern, planning director, on current and long-range department projects.

TRUCKS — Authorized the purchase of a flat bed truck for $2,295 and a van type truck for $2,589 from Sanderson Ford Co.

Jury Trial Slated

A jury trial for three San Francisco men accused of burglarizing a Panoramic Highway residence Dec. 11 has been set for the week of Feb. 16 in Marin Superior Court. Set to stand trial together are Peter Anohony Arai, 22, and Michael Lee Krane and Arthur George Metzger, both 26.

Board Ordered To Take Stand

Marin County supervisors will have to testify in the Righetti logging suit, an Alameda County judge ruled yesterday.

Superior Court Judge Robert Kroninger denied a motion by County Counsel Douglas A. Maloney to quash subpoenas served on the supervisors Tuesday by Hugh G Lawrence, attorney for Matthews, Humbert and walker Timber Co.

The supervisors Sept. 23 declared the firm's logging on the Righetti ranch on Bolinas Ridge a nuisance and ordered it abated, but Kroninger declined to halt the work.

Message Signs Low Bid: $37,790

Valentine Corp. of San Rafael was low bidder at $37,790 to install message signs at truck weighing stations along Highway 101 in San Rafael, the state Department of Public Works has announced.

The new signs will permit interchangeable messages, either "Scales Closed," or "All Trucks Stop at Scales," whichever is appropriate.

Bahia Unit Map Is Tentatively Approved

A tentative map of Bahia Subdivision Unit 3 was approved last night by the Novato Planning Commission.

The subdivision will have 24 lots on 17 acres, as proposed by Bahia Del Norte Corp., which is planning a 1,500-acre development at the end of Bugeia Lane.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

OFFICERS—Elected George C. Quesada as chairman and Wayne F. Sartain as vice chairman for 1970.

REZONING — Approved rezoning agricultural to multiple family a lot on the west side of Diablo Avenue, north of Hill Road for the Ferndale Investment Co., but denied rezoning from single family to general commercial for 2.5 acres on the southwest corner of De Long Avenue and Highway 101 for Ruth and Thelma Sanchez.

TACO BELL—Continued until 8 p.m. Feb. 9 application of Taco Bell for a restaurant at Vallejo Avenue and Highway 101.

Marinwood Fire Budget Pared By $18,000

Marinwood fire commissioners last night pared approximately $18,000 from the commission's preliminary 1970-71 budget of $106,000 in preparation for presenting the budget to the community services district board next wednesday.

To achieve the new $88,000 total, it was necessary to eliminate hiring of an additional fireman for the five-man department and cut back on some capital outlays, according to Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield.

The chief said the commission retained expenditures for additional equipment needed to bring the department up to American Insurance Association standards and thus cut insurance rates for district residents.

The tentative budget also includes 10 per cent salary increases for the firemen, plus a five per cent cost-of-living increase.

Span District Panel Replacement Named

SAN FRANCISCO — San Francisco Supervisor Robert E Gonzales was named yesterday by the board of supervisors to replace former Supervisor William C. Blake as one of its representatives on the Golden Gate Bridge District Board of Directors.

Gonzales, 32, an attorney, was appointed to the board in 1968 by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto as the first Mexican-American to serve on the board in this century.

Kentfield School Crosswalks Slated

To protect children walking to school at Kent Woodlands corner, the Marin County Public Works Department will paint a new crosswalk across Kent Avenue and an identifiable sidewalk along College Avenue to Stadium Avenue, the Kentfield School District board was told last night.

County traffic engineer James B. Robertson made the suggestion after discussing safety problems with the board.

Robertson was unable to offer a ready solution to improve another pedestrian hazard at Wolfe Grade, however, reported Supt. Anthony G. Bacich, and will visit the scene and discuss the problem further with Bacich. Traffic turning onto Wolfe Grade from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard is a hazard to walking children, Bacich said.

Robertson also indicated that a railing on Stadium Way Bridge across Corte Madera Creek would be raised for safety, and a ramp installed to ease passage for bicycles and shopping carts.

The board authorized architects Corlett and Spackman to draw preliminary plans for a building to teach hearing handicapped students, and agreed to buy from College of Marin a 16,000-square-foot site for the building next to Adaline E. Kent School at a cost of $4,350.

The program will be run and funded by the county schools office and state money and the district will be repaid the land cost.

The Kentfield School District board also:

TEACHERS — Granted a leave of absence for the 1970-71 school year to Doris Bauer, primary teacher at Wolfe Grade School, and hired John C. Griffin as a substitute teacher for $5,024 from Dec. 10 to the end of the school year.

SECRETARIES — Hired Barbara Ruzicka as Bacich's secretary at $658 a month and Dorothy Smith as Wolfe Grade School secretary at $511 a month.

Annexation Session Still Slated Thursday

The Mill Valley School District board last night decided to go ahead with a special meeting Thursday to discuss the Sausalito School District's proposal to annex 175 acres of the Mill Valley district, even though Sausalito officials will not be able to attend.

Supt. James A. Collins said the board agreed to hold the meeting because it felt "Tamalpais Valley residents should have a chance to discuss the alternatives."

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the Tamalpais Valley School.

Dr. Collins said the district has several options. It can agree to the annexation by Sausalito of the entire Marinview development southeast of Mill Valley or allow annexation of only a portion of the development.

According to Collins, the district can choose to take back a 200-acre parcel adjoining the development which the Sausalito district annexed three years ago or work toward unionization of the two districts.

A fifth choice would be to take no action at all, Collins said.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

DRAINAGE — Agreed to provide levees at Alto and Edna Maguire schools to help alleviate drainage problems and to work with the district's consulting engineer on a long-term program of drainage improvement.

MIDDLE SCHOOL — Authorized the district to call for bids for construction of a Middle School Monday, after hearing a report from the superintendent that final architectural plans were to be approved by the state today.

LITIGATION — Voted to accept the recommendation of the county counsel's office that the district join with seven other districts in the county in accepting a $215,000 out-of-court settlement from library book publishers who were sued for overcharging on library books.

Soldier Held In Check Case

A 19-year old soldier AWOL from Fort Ord was arrested yesterday on suspicion of forgery when he allegedly tried to cash a check drawn on his parents' account at a bank, San Rafael police reported.

Leonard Porter was booked into Marin County Jail and is being held for military police.

Porter was arrested at the Northgate branch of the Bank of America at 10:50 a.m. after he tried to cash a $30 check with the forged signature of his mother, Pearl C. Guerrero of 114 West Kelly Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, police said.

London Lauds Music By Former Marinite

A composition by David Del Tredici, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Del Tredici of San Anselmo, has won critical acclaim following a recent world premiere of the work in London.

Del Tredici is assistant professor of music at Harvard and has been a close associate of composer Aaron Copland since 1963. Premiered was "The Lobster Quadrille," part of a complete opera he is composing on "Alice in Wonderland," at Copland's request. It was included in a London Symphony Orchestra concert conducted by Copland at Festival Hall in London.

Northridge Plan Opposed Second Time

The Corte Madera Planning Commission last night again rejected Mill Valley plans for development of Northridge on the ridge line where Larkspur, Corte Madera and Mill Valley join.

The commission asked Town Mgr. Ronald B. Usher to draft a letter to Mill Valley planners listing objections to a new road plan prepared by Mill Valley City Engineer Stanley M. Bala. The new plan would funnel Northridge traffic onto the Mill Valley side of Corte Madera Grade, while original plans would have put the exit road at the ridge line. Corte Madera has objected that either plan would overload Corte Madera Grade.

Usher said the commission felt the only acceptable plan would be to extend Northridge Road to Highway 101, another three-fourths of a mile east of Corte Madera Grade.

The commission also objected that development plans do not provide for fire and police service in the area. The Larkspur part of the area would have to be served by vehicles coming through Larkspur and Corte Madera, then up Corte Madera Grade, Usher said.

To win Corte Madera's approval, the Northridge plans probably would have to include boundary changes to put the Larkspur part of the development in Mill Valley, Usher said. "It's impractical for Larkspur to serve the area," he said.

The Corte Madera Planning Commission also:

PREZONING — Approved prezoning an area off Paradise Drive in the light industrial district.

GENERAL PLAN — Approved a proposed general plan amendment to change the "Lucky Drive Annexation" area from light industrial to medium density residential use.

THEATER — Held an informal discussion with Leonard P. Sheftman on his plans to open a theater at the old post office. More on-site parking will be needed, the planners told Sheftman.

Fired EOC Aide To Sue Over Salary

John Turner, ousted as Southern Marin target area director of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, said today he plans to file suit to recover lost salary.

Turner's ouster was upheld by the EOC's personnel committee in a decision announced yesterday.

He was dismissed last September by W. Robert Lomax, Marin County EOC executive director, on a series of charges including improper hiring, unauthorized office rearrangement, etc.

Turner appealed the dismissal and was heard by the personnel committee in closed session last Thursday.

Gil Medeiros, chairman, announced, "It is the decision of the . . . committee that the dismissal of Turner by executive director Lomax, acting upon recommendation of the Southern Marin Target Area Board, was supported by substantial evidence."

Turner, on his part, declared: "All of the evidence was fabricated evidence. There were no witnesses. At this point my recourse is to go into court."

Power Changeover Darkens Sausalito

Electricity to an estimated 250 Sausalito residences was cut off from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. yesterday while a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. crew changed over a section from a 4,000 volt to a 12,000 volt line. Area affected was primarily along Sausalito Boulevard, said Harry Kimele, general foreman of the electrical department.

Kimele said residents were notified before the power was cut off.

Robberies Suspect Denies Four Counts

Jerry Murnan Vernon, 37, of Petaluma, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to four armed robberies in Marin. A jury trial was set for the week of March 2.

Vernon, arrested minutes after he allegedly held up a clerk at the Short Stop Market in Novato Nov. 29, is also accused of committing robberies in stores in Novato Sept. 3 and Dec. 21 and at the Motor Movies in San Rafael Oct. 44

250 Bright Ideas For Horsey Humor

A team of Independent-Journal editors today tackled the job of selecting the best cartoon from more than 250 submitted in a contest announced in last Thursday's I-J.

The contest is for a cartoon to go with a caption which appeared in last Wednesday's paper with only a blank space above it. The caption read: When did you first discover that your horse no longer loved you?"

Bryce W. Anderson, executive city editor who has been receiving the entries, reported they include a wide range of ideas. They also came from a wide range of localities, covering the whole I-J circulation territory from Petaluma to Sausalito and from Marshall to Tiburon. Entries were especially numerous from San Rafael, Novato and Mill Valley.

Children in a sixth grade class at Coleman School in San Rafael drew their ideas for the contest and submitted them in a group, as did those in a fourth grade class at Wolfe Grade School in Kentfield.

The entrants included both children and adults, and some of the cartoons are by professional artists.

The cartoon by Charles Conrad that was supposed to appear with the caption, the $25 prize-winning entry, and some other outstanding entries will be published in the Independent-Journal tomorrow.

Citizenship Course

A 10-session course preparing persons for citizenship examinations is underway on Mondays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Room 10 at Tamalpais High School. The class is taught by Leah Simpson of 11D Willow Avenue, Corte Madera, and sponsored by the adult division of the high school.

Lagunitas School Group Sees Need Of Tax Hike In June Vote

Lagunitas School District will need to ask a tax rate increase at the June primary election, in the belief of a citizen committee that has been studying district finances.

The committee, headed by Donald Lethbridge, reported to the district board last night that elimination of the reading specialist, drama and arts programs would damage the children's education and do little to relieve its financial difficulties. A tax increase, said the report, appeared the only alternative.

The district's total tax rate this year is $3.495 per $100 of assessed valuation, of which $2.65 is the general purpose operating rate—the part which would be subject to increase only if approved at an election.

The board asked the committee to continue its study of how much the district would need to operate next year, as basis for determining the rate increase to be asked.

March Jury Trials For Two Novato Men

Two Novato men accused of burgarlizing two schools on Nov. 27 pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court. A jury trial for Dennis Leslie Yates and Paul Brent Caldwell both 23, was set for the week of March 2.

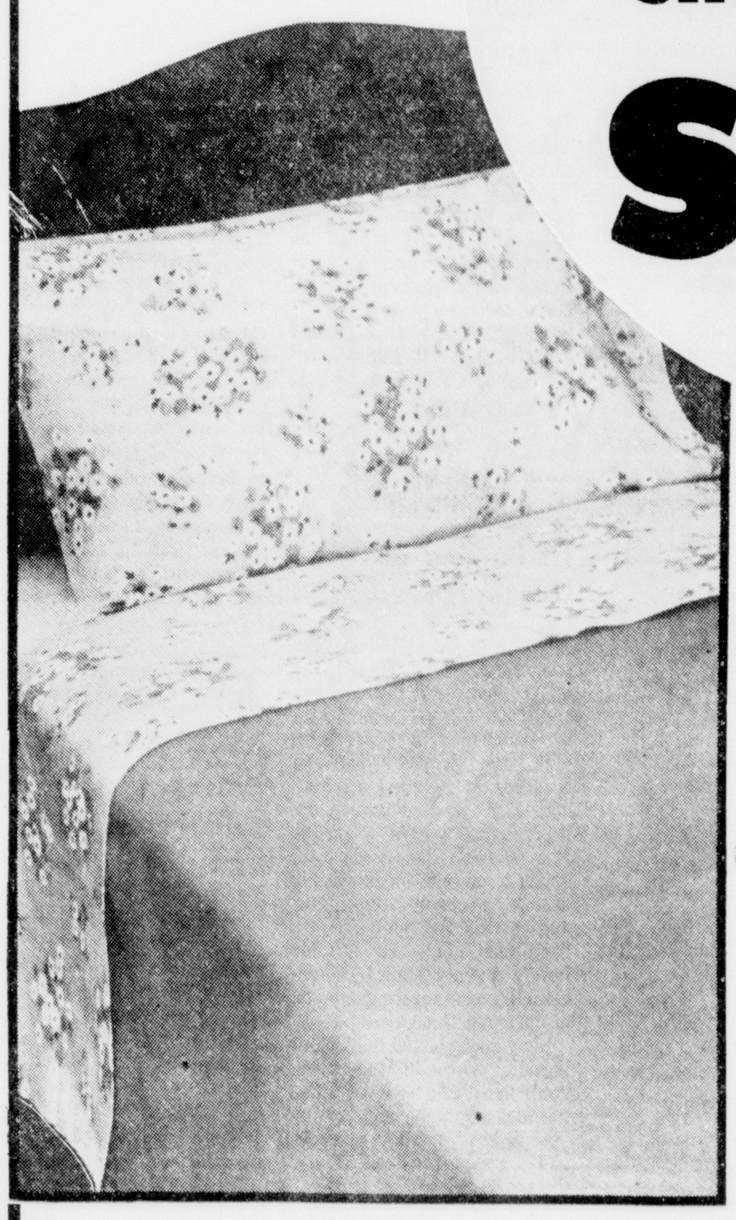

They are accused of burglarizing Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley and the Reed School.

A problem of whether to rent the old Lagunitas School building to Montessori Schools or to Mrs. Jean Berensmeier was resolved when the Montessori bid was withdrawn. The board agreed to rent the building to Mrs. Berensmeier at $1 per day per classroom used (a maximum of $3 per day). She plans to establish an arts, crafts and cultural center.

The board accepted from an anonymous donor a split-rail fence already installed around approximately one acre of the Marietta Larson Nature Preserve adjoining the San Geronimo Valley School.

Supt. Marshall McCunniff reported enrollment at 481, down about five from last month. Last year at this time it was 505.

Storm Tie-Up Emphasizes Need For Transit System

The highway traffic tieup in last Friday's rainstorm provided additional proof — if any were needed — of the urgency of providing a better mass transportation system for Marin.

Water on Highway 101 slowed traffic to a crawl. The result was that commuters spent two hours or more, in many cases, getting fom San Francisco to San Rafael. For those going on to North Marin or into the Ross Valley, the delays were even worse.

The combination of high tide, high wind and rain is bound to slow up travel. But when the vast majority of commuters travel by automobile, the slow-up is amplified greatly by the traffic snarl. And that's what happened last Friday.

The solution to this lies in a transportation system which does not depend on the highway. That means rails. But in the meantime, the traffic congestion part of the problem could be eased considerably by a better bus system.

The Golden Gate Bridge District promises to have such a system operating soon — but only on the highway. Improved bus schedules should attract more commuters to give up driving their own cars. But a comprehensive feeder system is needed to get enough of them to ride the buses.

A "black capitalist" company that should cheer the heart of Richard Nixon is so far the only entity in Marin really doing something toward providing such a feeder bus system. We are pleased that the Marin County Transit District board last week agreed to use $12,000 of surplus funds in its salary account to help Marin Transit Systems, headed by Theophus Barron Jr., get started with this much-needed service in Southern Marin.

The vote to give the $12,000 to Marin Transit Systems was 5-to-1, with one board member absent. The dissenter was County Supervisor Louis H. Baar, who objected to appropriating money to a company without experience in transit.

We can't go along with Supervisor Baar on that one. If previous transit experience is made a prerequisite for any county participation in feeder bus systems, there will be none of them in Marin. And they are needed. In fact, they are necessary.

It may be that Marin Transit Systems will run into deficits with its operation and have to ask for more subsidy. If it does, we hope it will not be turned down unless its service is unsatisfactory.

The county transit district has spent a lot of money on studies. These may be useful, but they don't take any traffic off the highway. Spending public money to subsidize bus systems that will help reduce traffic congestion — and along with it, smog from the great number of automobile exhausts — strikes us as more directly beneficial. (We know buses make smog, too, but one bus with 40 passengers does not make so much as 30 cars carrying the same number of people.)

We wish Marin Transit Systems every success in its endeavor.

And we earnestly hope that others — with or without transit experience — will get busy to provide similar feeder service in other areas of the county.

Black Paper Eagles

Marinites who have trouble with birds flying into their picture windows and injuring themselves might follow the example of an IBM plant in England.

About a dozen birds a day broke their necks by flying into the glass wall of this plant. Several measures were tried without success before the plant's top brass arrived at a solution. Six black paper eagles were pasted on the glass walls and since then no bird has approached it.

McCarthy's Surprise Move Most Likely To Benefit Behr

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, gets the prize for the best local political surprise so far this election year.

His announcement that he was giving up his seat after 20 years caught virtually everyone by surprise. Despite months of rumors that McCarthy would not run again, almost no one believed it could happen. Only one day before the senator disclosed his decision, most top Marin Republicans still were certain he would run again — and win again.

Reasons for McCarthy's decision, despite his disclaimer, certainly were based in large part on his discomfort at having fallen so far in the past two years. In 1968, he was dumped as minority leader of the Senate,, and last year as a member of the powerful rules committee.

Times had changed from the long years when he was among the handful of senators who ran the upper house. Redistricting spelled the end of the "old guard" at the hands of junior senators impatient with the creaky seniority system.

McCarthy also faced an expensive campaign. For the first time in many wears, he was facing a campaign without strong financial support from the "third house," the lobbyists who financed the "old guard."

McCarthy no doubt could have financed an expensive campaign with local resources but it could have been a strain.

For McCarthy to pass his toga along to his old friend, Raymond H. Shone, would be difficult, even if McCarthy's power were not on the wane.

The primary beneficiary of his decision could be former Marin Supervisor Peter H. Behr, who now has a much clearer field without the opposing candidacy of a popular incumbent. Only Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, could wipe all opponents off the slate — but it's hard to imagine him giving up the immense influence eh now has in the lower house.

The Democratic candidates really face a hard campaign now that thir main issue — the incumbent — is gone.

Gov. Ronald Reagan's noncandidacy for reelection already has a Marin campaign chairman, James McNab of Ross. It won't be announced until Reagan declares his candidacy, but McNab already is lining up a full campaign organization and will be ready to go full blast when his candidate steps forward.

McNab, an investment counselor and a former Ross town councilman, was treasurer of Reagan's 1966 campaign in Marin.

Sausalito Traffic Tunnel Advocated

Iadvocate that Sausalito begin thinking about drilling a tunnel under Second Street through to the northeast to relieve itself of the future traffic burden. Federal funds may be obtained for this project as street improvement. Further, raised deck parking in the north section on a non-profit municipal corporation bonded basis may be the answer to the coming thirty year passenger explosion.

Real Problem Of Burning Ban

Re: ban on backyard burning.

How true (as stated in your front page article Jan. 2), the ban on backyard burning has added another problem to Marin residents. The supervisors think the problem can be brushed off lightly by taking care of leaves and garden debris -- a yearly event -- but the real problem has to do with burning several times weekly of paper garbage -- mail items and cartons and packages from food items, etc. In our family of five members we accumulate a staggering amount of burnable trash.

I have never liked the idea of burning trash in the living room fireplace; however I like the idea of taking care of my "personal" trash by burning, so I am rather distressed over the new ban.

As a good citizen (I hope I am) I am willing to play a part in air pollution control, but this seems to me the wrong approach. Why not go after the automobile exhaust and factory smoke?

Pay Hike, Price Hike —A Wicked Circle

There has been a lot of to-do about inflation lately, and I think a large part of inflation can be charged to labor unions. The first idea of unionism I thought was good, but their present administration is rotten, and has been for some time. It is a wicked circle They ask for a raise. They get it. At once the price of the production is raised and the consumer pays for the raise. I give a concrete example.

Between the years 1913-1921 I was employed as a driver for a San Francisco dairy at $150 per month. We asked for $175 per month and were granted $165 per month. A few days later the consumers were notified that owing to the increased cost of distribution the price of milk would be raised one cent per quart.

Each driver in our dairy averaged 300 quarts a day. That amounts to $3 per day per driver increased income, of $90 per month. The driver gets $15 and the dairy gets $75. So the price goes up and the consumer pays and pays and pays. And the darn chumps keep on voting for more pay. Prices will never be lowered at that rate...

The President and Congress do not run the U.S.A. They may think they do but they don't. The union bosses do.

Not Grooming— What They Do

I can understand as being quite normal this "me, too" attitude as a response to Carl Brown's very legitimate expression of his own personal feelings. However, one reader lumped together his "me, too" response with a condemnation of the "ungroomed appearance" of the Antioch College students helping at Old Mill School in Mill Valley. There was a good sized article in the Independent-Journal which told some of the things these students were doing, some of their thoughts. Yet, that one reader saw foremost "ungroomed appearance" which is, of course, a matter of personal opinion.

As a mother of an Old Mill School child, I wish to thank these Antioch students for being there when my daughter needed someone helping her print the alphabet writing down her stories, adjusting earphones, taking her and several to the library, listening to her when she wanted to say something, and doing those countless things to help students and teachers. These "underground" Antioch students work five days a week for no pay. Not only that, they themselves must pay a very steep tuition for this experience.

Please notice what they do.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

An upstate hick made his first visit to Atlantic City, where he soon got into an altercation with a vendor on the Boardwalk. He bought a banana for a dime but returned moments later to demand his money back. "That thing you sold me," he complained, "has got too much cob."

A striking beautiful debutante had an unnerving experience at a dinner party recently. Attired in an expensive, very fancy evening dress, she noticed that her entrance created a strange stir among the guests already arrived. The reason: the furniture in the drawing room was upholstered in the identical material of her costume!

On the way home that night, her escort remarked, "I've never seen you so lively before! You were hopping about like a kangaroo." "I had no choice" she admitted ruefully. "If I remained still, I was afraid somebody would sit on me!"

THE DRUMMONDS

Government By Violence Poses Greatest Peril To Nation

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

(Editors Notes: In this second of five articles, the Drummonds examine the nation's most urgent problem.)

WASHINGTON—What is the greatest peril to the nation?

Is it another Vietnam or the nuclear arms race or racial tension or the pollution of our environment?

These are harsh and pressing problems—but they are not the worst.

The gravest and the greatest is the pervasive and mounting resort to violence as a means of social change.

And this peril is not adequately perceived.

THE DANGER of escalating violence is not its threat to the Establishment—to things as they are. That's a minor and they are. That's a minor and incidental danger. The Establishment needs to be changed at many points.

The peril above all others is that the ciolence is aimed to destroy the democratic process by which change can be made by peaceful means.

The most valuable gift of our revolutionary forefathers was not the institutions of government which have proved their worth so well so long.

Their most valuable contribution, without which the government they brought forth could never have endured, was the process they imbedded into the Constitution by which political, economic and social change could be accomplished by peaceful means. THE OBVIOUS danger today is that violent militants want to destroy our political institutions without offering anything in their place.

But the far greater peril is that the end result of pervasive and mounting violence is to shatter the democratic process by which something better—if there is something better—can be put in its place.

The gift of the framers of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights is government by ballot.

The consequence of the tactics of the militant left—physically attacking public officials, bombing public buildings, exacting concessions from college administrators at gun-point, harassing and intimidating whole communities—is government by violence.

THIS IS THE KIND of violence we are witnessing across the nation and there was more of it last year than the year before, and there is no sign that it is lessening.

If government by violence succeeds, what do we have left? What do the government-by-violence people have to offer? They are not seeking to persuade; they are seeking to coerce. Therefore, all they can offer is government by force to replace government by the consent of the governed.

This is the nation's greatest peril and it is the greater because it is hardly being recognized at all.

ONCE THE PROCESS of peaceful change is destroyed, only repressive authoritarian government is left.

Is this violence sufficient to justify raising the warning?

The most careful, considered, factual answer to this question is in the exhaustive reports of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence headed by Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, retired president of Johns Hopkins University.

These reports confirm what most readers know: Nearly every major city in the country has been the target of violence.

New York City alone over a period of six months has been the scene of eight bombings of skyscraper buildings and government offices—acts heedless of the lives of thousands of people. Purpose: the violence-prone wanted to change society by death and mass threats.

BLACK AND WHITE militants on campus have seized buildings, destroyed property, kidnaped college administrators and teachers. This is increasing.

They assert the right of unlimited free speech and free assembly, but use force to deny the right of free speech and free assembly to others.

In downtown Chicago the violent-minded smashed windows and injured bystanders to show how opposed they were to war.

IS THIS KIND of violence a passing ordeal which will go away if we don't worry about it too much?

The grim judgment of the Eisenhower Commission is no.

The commission's staff report on "Law and Order" states that "the current disobedience to law is disastrous from the standpoint of the maintenance of a democratic society."

It is getting worse. In a report on "The Politics of Protest," a commission study finds that "there has been a steady escalation of conflict, hostility and violence." And the commission itself says that "political violence in the United States today is more intense than it has been since the turn of the century."

THIS IS NOT to say that social and political violence in the United States is a majority movement.

But violence doesn't have to be a majority movement to evoke a violent response. There is no doubt in our minds that the "silent majority" of Americans will not indefinitely tolerate such violence and will be prepared to demand that the government do whatever is needed to restore stability and peace.

The Eisenhower Commission staff report puts it this way:

"Disobedience to valid law as a tactic of protest by discontented groups is not contributing to the emergence of a more liberal and humane society, but is, on the contrary, producing an opposite tendency. Fanaticism, even for laudable goals, breeds fanaticism."

This is another way of saying that pervasive and mounting violence, unless seen for what it is and checked soon, will turn the nation into a society in which everybody will lose important freedoms and liberties.

Forced Early Retirement Damaging To Society

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Forcing older people into retirement while they are still willing and able to work is a short-sighted policy that is having very serious social and economic effects.

That is the conclusion of a study conducted by the Nationa Institute of Industrial Gerontology for the Senate Committee on Aging.

The institute reported there has been a sharp drop during recent years in the percentage of men who remain gainfully employed after th age of 60.

In 1954, 84 per cent of the men between 60 and 65 were employed. Today, about 76 per cent have jobs. For men between 65 and 70, the decline has been from 58 per cent employed in 1954 to 36 per cent employed at present.

In a large number of cases, the institute said, retirement is "involuntary." It is forced upon older workers either by inflexible company policies or by the inability of an older worker, once laid off, to find another job.

It said early retirement has a bad effect both on the individuals hastened into idleness and upon U. S. society as a whole. To the individual, it means a precipitate drop in income. Even though he may be qualified for social security and a company pension, his retirement income probably will amount to considerably les than half what he was earning as an employed worker. In many cases, it will be less than one fourth his pre-retirement income.

To society, early retirement means a rise in the dependency ratio.

The dependency ratio shows how many non-productive people, young and old, are being supported by the employed portion of the population. In 1950, the dependency ratio was 73 —which means that for every 100 persons of working age, there were 73 who were too young or too old to work. Today, the dependency ratio is 93. If present early retirement trends continue, the 110 by the end of the 1970's.

Burning Ban Makes Little Difference To Novato Residents

New Year's Day was bright, clear and calm in Novato. Not a breeze stirred.

The smoke from 50 to 100 fires rose straight into the air. It was almost as though the population had saved its combustible material and set it on fire all over Novato. That was the day that the backyard burning ban went into effect. One would think residents were defying the Bay Area Air Pollution Control district regulation.

It would seem that if the regulation against backyard burning is to be enforced, it will take more than local fire departments to do it. Besides many of them opposed the ban.

PIONEER MEMORIAL Park in Novato is beginning to take the shape of a park which can be used. The park has been planted with new trees and grass.

The outskirts of the park have some of the largest trees in Novato. These are in the old Pioneer Cemetery and along Novato Creek. But in the main portion of the park, there are just the small trees, recently planted.

The city owns two beautiful magnolia trees on Novato Boulevard near Tamalpais Avenue. These are in the street right-of-way and must be moved for any widening. The city has also been offered another large magnolia.

Jack Burgi of Indian Valley Nursery says that he could move these trees into Pioneer Memorial Park and almost guarantee their survival.

The city council should take a long look at moving these large, slow growing trees into the park.

ENOUGH OF the little lights have been installed along the roofs of buildings on Grant Avenue so that people can begin to appreciate their beauty. They were conceived to imitate the luminarios which have become a tradition in Novato on Christmas Eve and Christmas night.

However, these small electric lights will be on every night. They are not just a holiday decoration. Whole blocks of them have been installed so that the effect can be seen in sections of the business district. With them lighted every night, Novato will soon become known as the "city of lights."

What Good Is 747 Jumbo Jet If Havana Can't Handle It?

WASHINGTON—Most airports are getting ready to handle the new Boeing 747 jumbo jet which accommodates 400 people. The only airport that seems to be dragging its heels and has done nothing to improve its facilities to receive this new transportation marvel is Havana.

Worried officials from Boeing, the major airlines and the pilots' associations have been in constant conference trying to figure out ways of getting Castro to get cracking on his airport facilities.

AT A MEETING the other day, an airline executive said, "I don't see how we can fly the 747 between New York and Miami if the Havana airport is not capable of handling our jets."

"It seems to me that Castro is being very stubborn," another airline executive complained. "He knows our government won't permit the 747 jumbo jets to fly between Oklahoma City and Atlanta unless the Havana landing strip is improved."

"Carlson here has just been to Havana to talk to Castro. What were the results of your negotiations?"

CARLSON SAID, "It took me three days to see Castro. Finally, he received me, and I explained the problem. I pointed out that the entire airline industry of the United States was at stake and appealed to him to make it possible for us to put the 747 in service.

"But Castro said it wasn't his problem and we should have consulted him before we started building the jumbo jets. He pointed out that besides normal airline traffic, the hijackings made Havana the busiest air terminal in the world and all his facilities are overtaxed."

"Did you tell him that we were willing to make a large contribution toward lengthening his runway and improving his baggage-handling facilities?"

"Yes, but he said that it would still cost him a lot of money because all the hijacked planes are unscheduled and he never knows when they will land. He feels he can't keep Cuban airline terminal employees hanging around waiting to handle a hijacked planeload of passengers."

"HE'S BEING unreasonable," a Boeing man said. "He knows we can't schedule hijacked planes. Did you tell him we'd subsidize him by giving him air mail contracts on the hijacked planes?"

"Yes. He liked that. But he pointed out that he also has to handle air traffic of hijacked planes from South America, and even if the United States gave him a subsidy, he will still be going in a hole with planes flying in from Venezuela, Bolivia and Brazil. Castro said he wasn't against civilian aviation, it was just the suspense of not knowing when the planes were coming that was getting his control tower down."

"He's got us by the hair. If we don't persuade him to get ready for the 747, the CAB may not give us permission to fly it."

CARLSON TOLD the meeting, "Castro said the only way we could get him to lengthen the runway and enlarge the airline terminal was to recognize his government."

"Impossible. The U.S. government would never allow it."

"That's what I told him. I said even the health of Boeing Aircraft's stock couldn't get the government to budge on recognition."

"What are we doing to do?"

Carlson said, "I came up with a compromise solution. I suggested that if the U.S. government doesn't recognize Castro's government, perhaps it would recognize the Havana airport."

"Did he go for it?"

"He did. Now all we have to do is persuade Nixon."

Larkspur Planners To Study Downtown

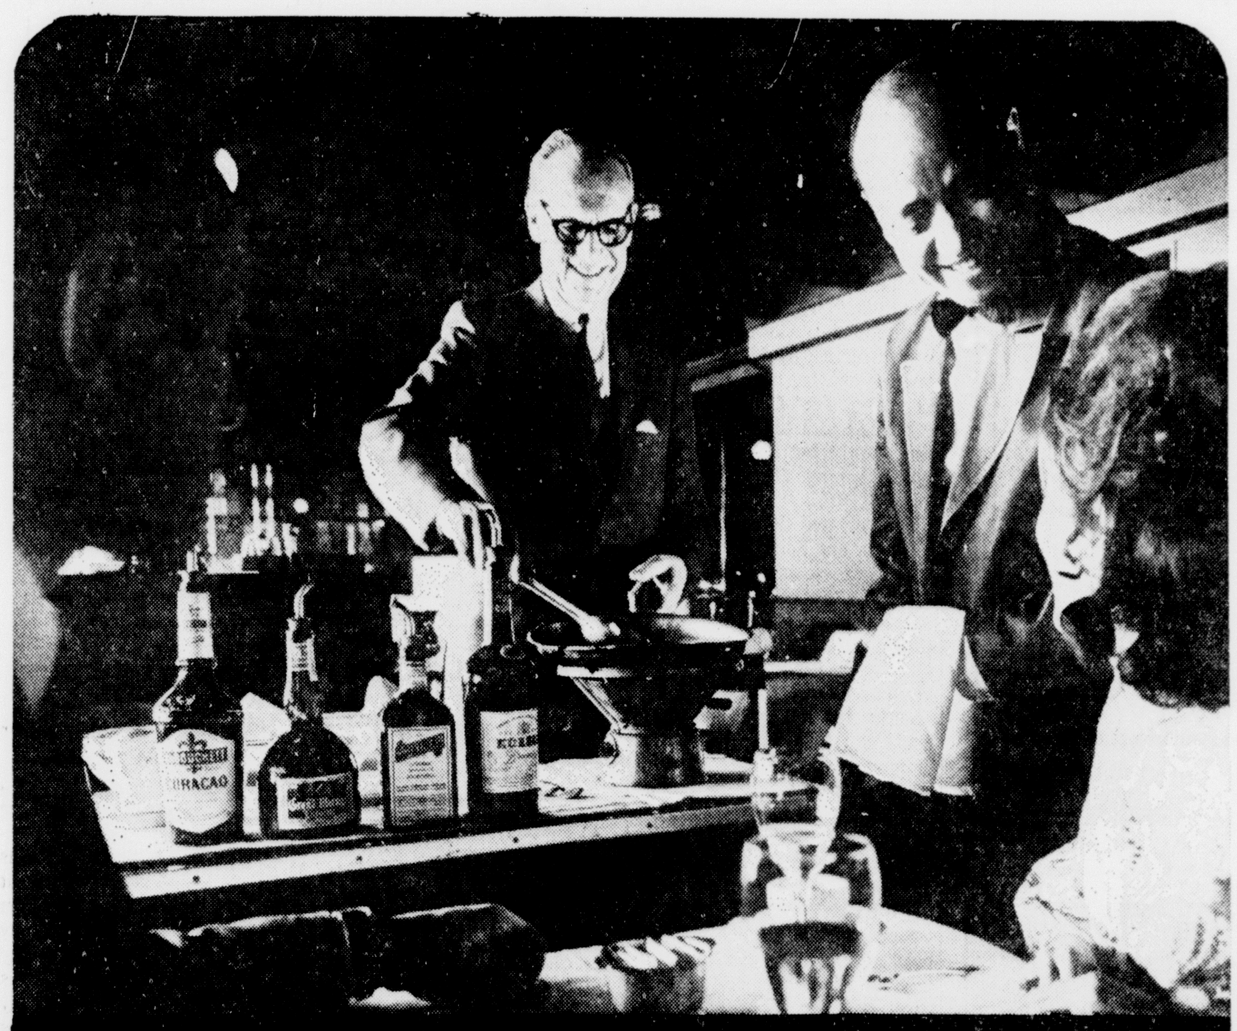

Possible development or redevelopment of older portions of downtown Larkspur will be discussed at tomorrow's meeting of the Larkspur Planning Commission, at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

The discussions, which have been going on for several months, are designed to give planners an idea of how downtown will eventually relate to the city's General Plan, according to Charles Curley, commission chairman.

March Sentence Date For Bank Loan Case

Sentencing for Gary Edward Smith, 27 of Novato, who has pleaded guilty to making a false financial statement to a bank, has been set for March 2 in Marin Superior Court.

Smith, who owns a San Rafael beauty shop, had originally been accused of grand theft. He allegedly used a pink slip for a car he no longer owned to obtain a $2,000 loan from a San Rafael bank.

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 13, the 13th day of 1970 with 352 to follow.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Venus, Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1733 James Oglethorpe and about 130 British colonists arrived at Charleston on the American Atlantic coast. They had a charter to form a settlement in what today is the state of Georgia.

In 1864 American songwriter Stephen Foster died in New York City. He had only 35 cents in his pocket.

In 1963 President Sylvanus Olympio of the west African nation of Togo was assassinated.

In 1966 President Lyndon B. Johnson appointed the first Negro in history to a cabinet position. He named Robert Weaver secretary of the new Department of Housing and Urban Development.

A thought for the day: President Abraham Lincoln said, "Truth is generally the best vindication against slander."

HOW TO PLAY
BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

There Are Times Experienced Player Will Bypass The Finesse

If you're a beginner, you've probably just learned about finesses, and you're justly proud of your knowledge. You want to try a finesse at every opportunity, and more power to you. But if you're an experienced player you know that there are times when you shouldn't finesse. Today's hand is part of a little post-graduate course in refusing to finesse.

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the king of spades and led the jack of diamonds for a finesse. West won, returned the jack of spades and continued the suit when South held up the ace.

After taking the ace of spades South cleared the ace and queen of diamonds out of his hand and looked for a way to reach dummy for the last two diamonds. He led the ace of clubs and then continued with the jack, waiting expectantly for an opponent to take the king. He is still waiting.

East refused the second round of clubs, and South got only two tricks in each suit. Down one.

NOT HARD

It isn't hard to see how South should play the hand. He should take the ace of spades at once., keeping dummy's king as a sure re-entry to dummy. Then South leads out the ace and queen of diamonds, continuing the suit if West holds off.

West has to take his king of diamonds sooner or later, and he may then knock out the king of spades.

VICTORY ASSURANCE

Since the diamonds are not blocked, declarer can take the last two diamonds and is thus sure of four diamonds, two spades, two hearts and one club.. South may even risk a club finesse if East discards a spade; for then it is clear that West doesn't have enough spades to defeat the contract.

But even without the club finesse South is still sure of his game.

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to show a major suit of four or more cards.

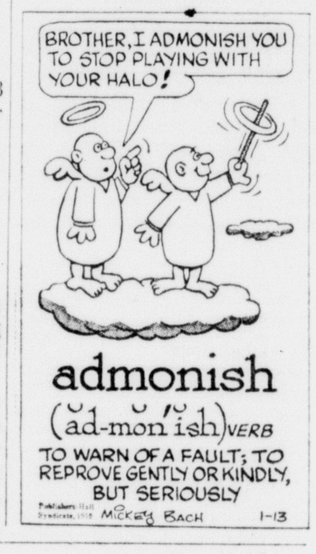

If partner bids two spades or two hearts, you will raise to three of his suit (bid four if your partner is a very good card player). If partner bids two diamonds, take him to 2-no-trump.

Protest Session On Higher Tolls Slated Jan. 22

An invitation to all commuters opposed to higher tolls on the Golden Gate Bridge has been issued by the Golden Gate Commuters Association to attend a protest meeting at 8 a.m. on Jan. 22 in room 311 of the Marin County Civic Center.

The association formed last month after bridge district directors voted to hike the 25-round-trip commuter books from $6.50 to $10, to eliminate the books after June, and to hike bus tolls from 26 cents to $2 per round trip.

Martin L. Strauss of Fairfax organized the association to pressure the district into rescinding its December actions.

Bridge directors, faced by protests from Strauss' organization and other commuters, have called a special meeting at 10 a.m. Friday to consider repealing their decision to eliminate commute books after June.

Crippled Tanker Nearing Port

LOS NGELES (AP) — The crippled tanker Connecticut, under tow of a commercial tug and a Coast Guard cutter, was due in port by tonight with its crew of 41 and load of jet fuel safely aboard.

The ship will be repaired at the Wilmington dock at the Los Angeles harbor, said George Smith, district manager for Atlas Steamship Lines.

The Coast Guard said Monday that the cutter Venturous had joined a tug in towing the tanker, which had been headed for Japan with 280,000 barrels of jet fuel when a leak caused it to founder 240 miles out.

Roaming Dogs To Be Discussed

The problem of dog packs roaming Bolinas and Stinson Beach will be discussed at the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the West Marin Community Center at Point Reyes Station, secretary Emma Benevenga announced.

The dogs have been killing deer and chasing cows in the area, Mrs. Benevenga said.

A business agenda for 1970 will also be set at the meeting.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Grandparent Frantic Over Supposed Danger To Child

VAN DELLEN

Among the thousands of letters we receive every month are a few involving the old trianegle - mother, daughter-in-law, and grandchild. It is not easy to determine whether the complaints are true or exaggerated.

For example, e Mrs. G.J. writs: "Our grandson, age 9, is a big, muscular boy who always has a heavy cold, deepin his chest, and runs temperatures. He sweats profusely on the least exertion. He loves sports but does not play outdoors in the fresh air very much.

"Our daughter is a chain smoker who does not open windows in winter, and the air is foul and smoke filled.

"EVEN THOUGH the boy has always hated smoke, she blows it right in his face even when he says, 'Please don't Mother.' We hoped the boy could spend more time outdoors gettiing some fresh air into his lungs which he would do happily, except for the colds and temperature.

"The poor child's body and hair reek with smoke.

"We are very concerend. His big, beautiful brown eyes look sick. Is our daughter condemning him to a slow and early death?

"We have never interfered, but will now. Please advise."

GRANDPARENTS SHOULDN'T interfere unless there is proof of child abuse or they feel that the parents are incompetent.

This letter is a tear jerker but is grandma referring to a single instance or is her daughter putting on an act because she knows momma objects to her smoking?

A 61 - year -old - easterner writes: "When I was 50 I began to suffer the horrors of leg cramps during the wee hours of the morning. An elderly friend in her mid-80's told me that if I stopped drinking tea my leg cramps would cease.

"She was 100 per cent right. On one occasion I drank ice tea that night. I do not smoke but drink 5 cups of coffee every morning."

WE MUST BELIEVE what the man says even though we find no connection between tea and leg cramps. Caffeine could make the muscles irritable, but the man admits he drinks coffee.

This is another example of one man's meat being another man's poison.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

ALCOHOL AND GLAUCOMA

N.D. writes: Is it safe for a person with glaucoma to have one cocktail a day.?

REPLY

Alcoholic beverages in moderation may not be harmful but consult your physician for an individual opinion. As a rule, it is not advisable for a glaucoma victim to drink coffee or to watch movies or TV in a dark room for any length of time. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this disease.

CULPRITS IN COLITIS

E.D. writes: I am a very emotional woman who has diarrhetic colitis. What, besides eating the wrong things, aggravates the condition?

REPLY

Fatigue, no vacations, unsympathetic bosses, and mothers-in-law. The nerves have a more profound effect upon the workings of the intestine than does the diet.

SPARSE BEARD

B.P. writes: Is scantiness of the beard inherited like baldness of the scalp?

REPLY

Yes. The beard pattern also depends upon the glandular make-up of the individual and the race.

CLEFT PALATE REPAIR

C.P. writes: Are cleft palate operations in children usually successful?

REPLY

Yes, especially when done at the proper age.

Waterfront Development Is Set Back

Strawberry Cove Marina development of 108 units on 6.7 acres of waterfront land along Seminary Drive suffered a temporary setback yesterday before the Marin county Planning Commission.

Conservation leaders put up stiff opposition, charging that Leonard B. Fleischman's plan would congest and destroy the waterfront.

On a motion by Margaret Azevedo, the commissioners voted 4 to 3 to continue the discussion until Feb. 9 "with the object of reducing intrusion into the bay by one-third or one-fourth."

Commissioners Walter F. Freitas, Niels Schultz Jr. and Eugene R. Trombley, who voted against the motion, said density should be reduced slightly but not to the degree proposed by Mrs. Azevedo.

Main opposition to the development came from Harold E. Gregg, Mary R. Summers and Mrs. P. K. Gilman, all representing the Marin Conservation League. They were joined by Pieter S. Myers of 3 Blanding Lane, Belvedere, who spoke as a citizen concerned with preserving natural environment.

Mrs. Summers, former Marin County planning director, said Fleischman's plan violates the San Francisco Bay Plan, which was drawn up by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and approved by the state Legislature. She said one and one-half acres of Fleischman's land is within an area outlined by the bay plan as not to be disturbed.

In other business, the commission set a public hearing for March 2 on the possibility of establishing a more stringent lot slope policy for Sleepy Hollow, thus halting developers from creating small lots on hillsides.

It also set a hearing for Feb. 9 pending further study of plans for a commercial, residential and marina development on Herbert Angress' 109-acre ranch north of Marshall.

In another action, the commission unanimously denied a request by Bank of America to put up signs that projected seven feet from their branch banks at Point Reyes Station and Tomales.

Driving Sessions For The Elderly

A defensive driving course for elderly motorists will begin at 10 a.m. Thursday at the First Methodist Church, 9 Ross Valley Drive, San Rafael.

The course will be held each Thursday for four weeks. It is sponsored by the Marin County Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons and the Marin Division of the California retired teachers association.

Information and reservations are being handled by J. C. Uhte of 51 Bothin Road, Fairfax. Uhte said drivers 55 years and over are invited to take the course.

Disaster Job Aid Available

Marin residents and persons in 37 other California counties who became unemployed as a result of January and March flooding last year may be eligible for disaster unemployment assistance.

Marlon Skoss, manager of the unemployment insurance office of the California Department of Human Resources Development, said $28 million is available under the Disaster Relief Act of 1969.

Applications may be made at 805 E Street, San Rafael, or at any other unemployment office in the state.

California's sunny Nappa valley produces seven million gallons of wine a year.

MARIN HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS NOTES

Drake's Carl Brown To Quit Basketball Job

Pat O'Brien, who said the National Anthem in New Orleans the other day, would have appreciated this.

Carl Brown, basketball coach biology teacher and assistant football coach at Drake High School and member of the San Rafael Board of Education, is going to drop one of his jobs as of next year. He's not coming back as Drake High's head basketball job.

Some of the first persons to find out about this were members of this year's Drake cage squad. Brown told the Pirates just before they played San Rafael High School, a team that was supposed to be right in there for the Marin County Athletic League laurels.

The pirates, who have impressed very few of their fans in winning only three of 11 games prior to last Friday, responded much like Knute Rochne's forces did when they won one for Ronald Reagan. I mean, the Gipper. Although Brown didn't tell them to go out and win one for him, the Pirates did anyway, much to the chagrin of the Bulldogs, who were not expecting to lose a league game so soon, if at all. It was 52-51. Drake, and it may have made a different team out of the Pirates.

"I was saving it for the team" Brown said of the accouncement. "It seemed like a good time to tell them."

It was not a sudden urge by Brown.

"I've been thinking about it for a couple of yea rs now," he said 'I haven,t had much time for my family, my grandchildren. But I've given absolutely no thought to giving up football."

The announcement will probably come as a shock to quite a few people, who are used to seeing Brown on the courts, where he has led Drake to two MCAL titles in succession, in 1966 and 1967.

Brown is still being kept busy by the other bombshell words he dropped last month at a meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education, in which he lambasted current trends in school permissiveness, among other things.

"Oh, lette rs and phone calls are still coming in," he said. "I've spoken at a few places. And surprisingly, there's been a lot of talk generated among the kids at school. They're willing to sit down and talk about it."

CARL BROWN
Just like Knute

SAN RAFAEL basketball coach Mike Diaz is finally in some kind of condition where he can eat and yell normally. Diaz, who suffered a broken jaw, among other things in a traffic accident late last year, is fully on the road to recovery.

The wiring of his jaw has come out, allowing him to exercise vocal authority on the court, and giving him proper and comfortable eating habits. And the cast is off his arm.

WRESTLING IS probably the only sport in which a loser can be a hero. That's what happened in Friday's San Rafael-Novato match, which Novato won 21-20, probably deciding the Marin County Athletic League title.

San Rafael roared off to a big lead, winning the first five matches, then losing the next five. But the match was decided when Dan Coleman of San Rafael couldn't quite pin Bill Busig, even though he piled up near falls in winning 11-2.

THEY CAN TALK a lot about the great snooting of Redwood's basketball team, and it is pretty good (45 per cent). But the real strength of the Giants, after watching them whip Tamalpais, 71-59, Friday, would seem to me to be on the boards. Bill Challender, no great shooter, is a demon on the boards and at 6-7, he'd better be. But so is super-sub Scott Trobbe, a great shooter too, who's not shy to gun away. And 6-3 Roger Smith and 6-0 Jerry Piro also board well. And that's what makes the Giants giant.

WATCH OUT for Tamalpais High School in the Marin County Athletic League water polo race.

The Indians may not win the title (it will probably go to either Terra Linda or Redwood), but they've already had something to say about the outcome. The Indians use a wet version of the basketball slowdown, according to Terra Linda coach Chuck Metz, who discovered it much to his misfortune last week. That's when Tamalpais upset Terra Linda, 4-3, to hand the Trojans their first league loss.

The Indians almost got to once-beaten Redwood the same way, before losing 3-2. Those scored are like 7-6 football games, 1-0 baseball thrillers or 44-42 basketball games.

Terra Linda, incidentally, whacked Novato, 15-4 last week, with league scoring king Pat Ellington getting three goals.

BOB TROPPMANN, athletic director in limbo and former football coach at Redwood High School, is prepping for the annual Coach of the Year Football Clinic, set for the Sheraton Hotel in San Francisco Feb. 7 and 8. Scheduled to appear among the guests are Louisiana State coach Charlie McClendon, Nebraska's Bob Devaney and Missouri's Dan Devine and possibly Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian.

Why Pro Gridders Don't Reveal Pay

Marin Chapter, San Francisco 49ers Boosters Club opened one of its gatherings to women for the first time the other night and, wouldn't you know it, one of the first questions from a female concerned salaries of pro football players.

Matt Hazeltine, the retired 49er linebacker, fielded the question neatly, to wit, "The players are asked by management not to divulge the amount of their contracts. One year 49er President Lou Spadia called me in to his office and, after I'd signed my contract, he asked me not to tell anyone how much I got. I told him not to worry, I was just as ashamed of it as he was."

"Actually, Hazeltine grinned, the 49ers have the fourth highest payroll in the National Football League, although they didn't play like it this year.

With about 125 Boosters and their wives present at the club's first banquet at Marin Country Club in Novato, the 49ers were represented by rookie sensation Gene Washington, defensive lineman Kevin Hardy and safetyman Alvin Randolph along with public relations director George McFadden and new promotions director Dick Berg.

Washington Ahead Of Schedule

Wide receiver Washington told the group he believes "it will take three or four more years to master my position," explaining there is a great jump in caliber from college to professional football. Those who watched him play this season figure his progress is far ahead of schedule.

Asked about his speed compared to that of Clifton McNeil and Leo Johnson, other 49er speed burners, Washington said: "If we were to race 100 yards, McNeil would beat us by about 10 yards. However, they clock us over 40 yards and Clif and I are about even at 4.4 (seconds) while Leo is about 4.5. Quickness is the biggest asset of receivers.' '

Hardy, who injured his knee against Oakland back in September and sat out the season, revealed he actually injured the wheel twice.

"About four days after my operation I tried to walk around much too soon, took a spill and had to undergo a second operation to make repairs," he said. ' I hope the AstroTurf (at Candlestick Park, the 49ers' home-to-be) will help my knee."

Pleasant Surprise For Woman

Niner tight end Bob Windsor and linebacker Frank Nunley, unable to attend the awards banquet, sent wires of thanks to the Boosters for their "Serendipity Awards."

One woman asked the meaning of the serendipity awards and was pleasantly surprised with the explanation offered by master of ceremonies Dave Scofield.

Other special guests included Terra Linda High's Don Lucas, honored as the Marin County high school coach of the year, and San Marin High senior Bruce Hoberg, who received a $200 scholarship as the county's most improved high school scholar-athlete. His proud mom and pop were on hand.

Ray Bennigson of San Rafael deserves a special hand for arranging the banquet. The roast New York strip was superb and everything went off beautifully, in spite of the heavy rains and flood that prevented some 49ers from getting to the affair.

Boosters President Price Hall, a devoted 49er fan since the team's inception in 1946—and still loyally looking toward their first championship—looked around the roomful of his fellow sufferers and said:

"It's wonderful to know there are so many OTHER crazy people."

Forty-Niner fans are in a class by themselves.

Debbie Female Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Debbie Meyer, the lithe teen-ager who added new dimensions in 1969 to her stature as the world's reigning swim queen, was selected Female Athlete of the Year today in the Associated Press' 39th annual poll.

Miss Meyer, barely beaten out for the 1968 award by Olympic figure skating champion Peggy Fleming, was the landslide choice of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters this time around.

The 17-year-old schoolgirl from Sacramento, Calif., a triple gold medal winner in the 1968 Olympic Games, lowered one of her own four world freestyle records in 1969 and made a triumphant splash as a novice medley swimmer.

She received 210 votes, to 96 for runnerup Kathy Whitworth, the gifted lady golfer who won the Athlete of the Year award in 1965 and 1966.

WORLD RECORD

Debbie, who set records at 200, 400, 800 and 1,500 meters in 1968 pre-Olympic competition, churned the 1,500 in 17 minutes, 19.9 seconds last August in the National AAU Championships at Louisville, Ky., trimming 11.3 seconds off her world mark at that demanding distance.

Miss Meyer, virtually unbeatable in the freestyle events in recent years, turned to the individual medley as a diversion —and wound up taking 400-meter indoor and outdoor titles in the AAU championships. The individual medley is a versatility test, combining breaststroke, butterfly, backstroke and freestyle strokes.

Miss Whitworth, named LPGA Player of the Year, claimed runnerup honors in the AP poll by a margin of 42 votes over golfing rival Carol Mann, the leading money winner on the 1969 women's tour.

Rounding out the top 10 votegetters were East German figure skater Gabriele Seyfert, with 30 nominations; Australian tennis star Margaret Smith Court, 25; swimmer Susan Atwood of Lakewood, Calif., 10; swimmer Karen Muir of South Africa, 7; tennis standout Ann Haydon Jones of Britain, 6, and Miss Fleming and lady jockey Diane Crump, 4 each.

Leg Injury, Possible Retirement Discussed

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Len Dawson sat in the coach compartment of a big airliner flying back to a hero's welcome Monday and tried to put into words what being No. 1 on professional football's No. 1 team means after playing the game 21 years.

"It is what everybody strives for, but so few people ever reach it," Dawson said as he led his pro football champion Kansas City Chiefs home to a massive welcome by fans who didn't get to New Orleans for the Super Bowl.

Dawson, who will appear tonight with Coach Hank Stram on NBC's "Tonight Show" with Johnny Carson, has talked of retirement, and admits his wife would like to see him give up the pro game.

Dawson doesn't know what the future holds. The possibility remains the left knee which had a partly torn ligament during the season may yet require surgery. At Len's age, rehabilitation of an operated knee might be harder.

"We'll have to see," he said. "I've known people who've had outstanding careers but never realize this," Dawson added. "We set these goals every year, but we don't always reach them. This is the ultimate; this is all there is."

Dawson, named the outstanding player in the Chiefs' 23-7 victory over the Minnesota Vikings, spoke with pride.

TEAM EFFORT

"It's a satisfying thing, of course," he said. "But it goes deeper than that. It's not an individual thing. It's something you obtain only with a team effort.

"I've been quite fortunate to have the opportunity to play on some fine teams. I've been surrounded by talent. I'm surrounded by talent on this football team."

For Dawson, who began playing football in the ninth grade 21 years ago in Alliance, Ohio, Sunday's triumph culminated the dream of a lifetime.

The Chiefs won the AFL championship in 1962, but Dawson said "that didn't count." They also won in 1966, but lost the first Super Bowl game.

"In our society, whether we like it or not, it's the winner who gets the recognition," said Dawson, who has never won acceptance among many persons in pro football as an outstanding quarterback.

The 13-year pro veteran, now 34, let it be known he expects the public to accept the Chiefs as true champions.

EARNED IT

"Some people thought we shouldn't have been in the Super Bowl because we lost two games to Oakland," Dawson said. "We lost to Oakland 10-6. But then we beat the New York Jets, Oakland and Minnesota. We beat those teams. We earned that right to go to the Super Bowl. We didn't back in the back door.

"We overcame a lot of adver-

NCAA TOLD:

Prep Recruiting Too Pressured

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association has been urged to take steps to eliminate high-pressure recruiting practices by limiting the number of expense-paid visits a high school student can make to a college campus and by restricting the contact with him in his hometown.

Clifford Fagen, executive director of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, also suggested that the colleges not begin recruiting young athletes until they have become high school seniors and put a limit on the total number of visits they can make to college campuses.

Fagen, whose organization represents state associations containing 21,500 high schools, added that colleges put too much pressure on high school athletes when they talk to them prior to or while they are preparing for an event such as a track meet or basketball game. He suggested coaches be prohibited from

New Athletic Role For Marin's Pete Limm

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Pete Limm is still getting settled in his new role as assistant athletic director at College of Marin, a job he took over at the start of the current semester.

Limm, 39, is also assistant football coach and assistant coach in track and field and is in his fifth year of teaching and coaching at the Kentfield school.

His job as Athletic Director Harry Pieper's assistant is a new one created this year. "I just try to help Harry out with things like transportation, organization, and other details," said Limm.

Although born in Seattle, Wash., Limm came to San Francisco as a child during the depression, and his father out of work. They lived with Pete's grandparents at Bay View-Hunters Point district where he spent his boyhood.

His grandparents were in the fishing business near Hunters Point. "That's when there were striped bass in San Francisco Bay," said Limm. "When have you heard of anyone catching striped bass in San Francisco Bay now?" he said nitung at the pollution problem of the bay.

Limm was in the Coast Guard from 1948 to 1952 and then attended San Francisco State for five years, earning his B.A. and Master's degree, majoring in history.

His first teaching job was at Santa Venetia Intermediate School where he taught math, science and physical education. He was there two years when the second high school in the San Rafael School District was built, Terra Linda High, and that's where he went.

He taught physical education and mathematics at Terra Linda and was head football coach and assistant coach in track and baseball. The last two years at Terra Linda High, Limm was dean of boys.

The first two years the football program at T. L. went only as far as junior varsity, with Limm's J.V. teams posting 7-2 and 8-1 records. The next three years Limm's varsity teams won 18 and lost 9, the Trojans best finish his last year when they finished as runners-up in the Marin County Athletic League, a record of 8-1.

Limm, who at 180 pounds is the same weight he was when he played guard at San Francisco State, is concerned with the pollution problem more than most, because he has seen it happen right in San Francisco.

"There was no concern then," Limm said, recalling his boyhood days in Hunters Point. "The first signs of it were about 1942-43 when there was such an influx of ships. That was the start...then came the fill, it was all called progress. You just didn't see what was coming."

Limm sees the major problem in College of Marin athletics as one of money. "It comes down to how much money the student body is willing to spend from its fund," he said about the shortening of the athletic budget the last two years.

Limm and his wife, Christine have two daughters, Kelli, 2, and Christi, 17 months. The family home is at 85 Stanford Court, Novato.

FISH AND GAME

Steelheaders Blanked At White House Pool

I checked the anglers at White House Pool near Point Reyes Station Saturday wondering whether or not the rains had brought in a fresh run of steelhead.

There were 20 anglers thereabouts but none had a steelhead. The water was in top shape for bait, too.

Don Scaglioli of San Anselmo, who fished all morning, caught six bullheads, so if a steelhead had been there it could have found the fresh roe bait.

One angler kept telling me about the three-pound sucker he had taken. He mentioned this three or four times, but when I asked him if he wanted a write-up he balked. He wouldn't even tell me his name!

But, having an ace up my sleeve I asked to see his new 1970 license in my role as warden for the Department of Fish and Game. So he let it be known that Robert Hudson of San Rafael took all honors at White House pool on Jan. 10 with a beautiful three pound sucker.

THE BOYS mentioned that Don mentioned that Don Zunino of San Rafael took a 16-pound steelhead on a fly a few days before, but later they brought the weight down to 14 pounds.

FROM THERE I went up to see Jim Crunk, the fish and game man at the Novato fish trap. Now there's a man who never misses. He had 33 late run salmon in the trap—all red ones—only fit for spawning, but he also had three steelhead, so some fish are going through the White House Pool area. To date he has taken about 270 salmon and 20 steelhead.

THERE WAS a rumor around the White House Pool area that Constable Michael McLean had arrested seven persons for trespassing there near Olema Creek. I looked Mike up and he said this was not so, that the fishermen are welcomed to fish, but if they litter they will be hauled off to the hoosegow. So don't litter.

UP AT Walker Creek near Tomales there were 10 anglers but, again, no fish. Boy, it was muddy. When I say fishing in muddy water can pay off I don't mean when it's thick enough to plow. Papermill Creek tidewater seems to clear faster than other streams, so try it first after a big rain. I told the fellows fishing that about 15 years ago after a big rain I checked 105 steelhead at White House Pool. It's an official record.

INCIDENTALLY, Don Zunino was in on those catches too. I really think old Papermill needs a shot in the arm with a plant of yearling steelhead. It seems to be surely getting tougher each year out there to catch one of these beauties. After the salmon runs, the area seems to go dead. Maybe a few letters and a request from the Marin Rod and Gun Club to the Fish and Game fisneries department could bring this about. Walker Creek also could use some of the same.

DOWN AT San Pablo Bay over the weekend, though the water was muddy, the few fishermen who went out of Buck's Landing at Santa Venetia took some fish. George Dray and Rawleigh Amma brought in four striped bass with the largest going 28 pounds.

And Ernie Eddings and Emmet Wiley, both from the landing, took a couple of fair-sized sturgeon.

INCIDENTALLY I had Bob Wilson of Woodacre smoke a sturgeon for me a few weeks ago. You've never tasted anything better. There's a place in San Francisco called Bell's Smokehouse that will smoke your fish for you at a nominal cost.

THE PARTY boat records of the San Francisco Bay Area fleet showed that party boats took 2,745 striped bass and 99 sturgeon in this area during the month of November.

THE ABALONE season closes tomorrow and won't reopen until March 16, but the Department of Health has lifted the quarantine on mussels and clams so that low tides won't be wasted for your shellfish fans.

A TWO-DAY jackrabbit shoot will be held at the state's Grizzly Island Wildlife Area on January 17 and 18, the Department of Fish and Game said today.

The 10,000 acre wildlife area is located in Solano County, about 10 miles southeast of Fairfield.

Hunters will be admitted on a first-come, first-served basis and will be required to check in and out of the area at the official check station. Not more than 400 hunters will be allowed on the area at any one time.

Each hunter under the age of 16 must be accompanied by an adult at least 21 years old, the DFG says.

The check station will be opened at 6 a.m. on both shooting days, and shooting will be permitted from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Shotguns and bows and arrows may be used, but rifle-shotgun combination and pistols will not be allowed. Hunters may bring dogs, but they must be kept under control, according to the Department.

There will be no limit on the number of jackrabbits hunters may take, but hunters must take with them all the rabbits they kill.

The jackrabbit hunt is authorized by the DFG to prevent over-population of the area by the rabbits and to provide additional hunting recreation to the public.

Playing Is Easier Than Picking Scores

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Monte Huber, an end on the University of Colorado football team, was one of 10 persons who tied for first in one of the Denver Post's weekly grid contests with only one miss. But an Englewood, Colo., woman got the $350 first prize with the best guess as to the score of the Indiana-Colorado game in which Huber played.

Big Boys Explode In Openers

The big boys exploded in the opening salvo of Marin County Athletic League basketball play last Friday.

Six-foot, seven-inch Dana LaFerriere of San Marin High School, 6-6 Bill Secor of Tamalpais, and 6-8 Don Duryee of San Rafael had themselves big nights, although Secor and Duryee probably didn't relish things as much as did the Mustang center.

All three padded their season scoring averages, LaFerriere inching toward the top of the heap with a 29-point splurge in a 60-53 win over Marin Catholic, giving him an 18.1 average over 12 games, just seven-tenths of a point off second-place Jerry Piro's pace. Piro is scoring at an 18.8 clip, while leading the league is San Marin sharpshooter Gary Howard, with a 19.2 average.

HIGH LOSERS

Secor scored 21 points in a losing effort against Redwood and Duryee got 22 in another loser for San Rafael, a 52-51 shocker at the hands of Drake.

All the big boys, and the smalled ones, too, were in action again this afternoon in another go-round which was to see Tamalpais go against Drake, San Marin viist Novato in an intra-city rivalry, Terra Linda at San Rafael in another and Redwood hosting Marin Catholic, all at 4 o'clock.

KID'S PROUD

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — "It wouldn't have been like this if they'd won."

The remark, by a Twin Cities International Airport policeman, seemed to be what everyone was thinking as some 400 persons welcomed the Minnesota Vikings home Monday.

The team, minus quarterback Joe Kapp and seven others, received a warm, but subdued, welcome on their return from New Orleans where the Kansas City Chiefs beat them 23-7 in the Super Bowl.

Kapp, who suffered torn muscles and ligaments in his left shoulder in the Super Bowl, flew to Los Angeles with his seven teammates who will play in Sunday's Pro Bowl. Kapp will not play in the game. He has been replaced by former teammate Bob Berry, now with the Atlanta Falcons.

Minneapolis Mayor Charles Stenvig greeted each player as they stepped into the terminal, saying "You're still No. 1 with us." He carried a newspaper advertisement which said "We still love you in January as we did in September."

Among the scattered signs was one which read "We're proud of our coaching dads." It was signed by the children of head coach Bud Grant and offensive backfield coach Bus Mertes.

Kathy Grant, 18, said she and her sister Laurie, 16, and two of Mertes' daughters, Sally 17, and Kelly, 14, had made the hastily-lettered sign at the airport.

The girls said they had watched the Super Bowl game on television at the Mertes home. Asked if they were making any predictions for next year, Laurie laughed and said, "Yeah, we won't watch it at Mertes' house."

Sally added that everyone's spirits had been lifted when her younger sister Mary, 7, tried to comfort them after the game, saying, "Don't worry, Sally. All that money would have been taken out in taxes, anyway."

Grant was the last person off the plane. He accepted a distinguished service plaque from Stenvig and then walked stone-faced through the crowd as they gave him their most enthusiastic applause.

The coach said he did not think Kapp's injury was serious, adding, "It'd take more than that to keep Joe out."

Cheers, Tears For Freddie

COMBINED AP & UPI

AUSTIN, Tex.—James Street, Texas quarterback, was named last night as the most valuable player on the 1969 national championship Longhorn football team, but the most applause and a lot of tears went to Freddie Steinmark.

Steinmark, a Longhorn defensive safety whose leg was amputated because of cancer one month ago, walked on an artificial leg to receive his second letter.

A crowd of some 5,000 who turned out for the banquet stood and cheered for almost three minutes as Steinmark made his way across the 50-foot stage with the aid of a cane.

And in more football news:

LOS ANGELES — Joe Kapp, Minnesota Vikings' quarterback who suffered a shoulder injury in the Super Bowl game, will miss the Pro Bowl Sunday in Los Angeles. Replacing Kapp as one of the West's quarterbacks will be Bob Berry of the Atlanta Falcons. Roman Gabriel of the Rams is the other West quarterback.

WASHINGTON — It looks like football will remain the same. An advisory committee of coaches has notified the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) that there is no need to tamper to any extent with college football rules.

Auto Racing

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — Ferrari announced its return to sports car racing yesterday and will send three blood-red 512s entries to the 24 Hours of Daytona on Jan. 31. The Ferrari racing team will include Mario Andretti and Jackie Ickx.

"We lived with that thing in 1967 (Super Bowl loss to Green Bay) until today. We happened to get beat by a good football team. A lot of people lost to the Green Bay Packers. I just hope the public and the news media realize it's no disgrace to lose to the Kansas City Chiefs.

'Too Much Pressure In Prep Recruiting'

FOUR PROPOSALS

Fagen made his remarks Monday at a roundtable discussion during the 64th annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association which will take up four proposals concerning recruiting practices on Wednesday.

If passed, the NCAA would limit to two the number of expense-paid visits a high school student could make to a campus, restrict to two the number of visits a coach or his representative could make to the athlete's home town and prohibit the contacting of an athlete at the site of competition in which he is a participant.

Football coach Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse, another member of the discussion group, said coaches would favor the NCAA spelling out the rules on recruiting.

COACH'S LIFELINE

"Recruiting is the lifeline of a football coach," he said. "Since a coach is hired and fired on his success, recruiting is very important, perhaps the most important.

"So a coach would like some guidelines, some specifics, on what he must do so not to violate the rules," he said.

Fagen said current recruiting practices are a waste of time and money because most high school athletes "know at the beginning of their senior year what schools they're interested in."

He also said many of the high school athletes, knowing the competition between colleges for outstanding players, exploit the practice of visiting as many campuses as possible.

LITTLE GAME

He cited one example of four boys in one town who "knew what school they were going to but played a little game to see which one could total up the most miles by traveling around the country and seeing who could visit the most campuses."

Cal Stuns Washington, Stanford Bows In Pac-8

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the lions and lambs of the Pacific-8 Conference continue to there are going to be quite a few battered beasts and satiated sheep by the end of the basketball season.

Last weekend Washington came within a whisker of dropping its conference opener before stopping Stanford in overtime.

On Monday night the Huskies, 14th-ranked team in the nation, didn't have a chance to use an extra session. They didn't even have much of a chance to win after halftime as California's Golden Bears stomped them 84-64.

In the night's only other contest, Stanford staged a mild but futile second-half rally before falling to Washington State 72-62.

With the exception of tonight's nonconference game between Cal and the Pilots at Portland, the Pac-8 is idle at least until Friday night.

The Bears threw an airtight zone defense at Washington and slammed a lid on high-scoring Husky George Irvine. The senior forward, averaging 22.5 points a game, was limited to seven against Cal, which held an insurmountable 40-24 halftime lead.

Dave Willenborg was Washington's top scorer with 18 points while Ansley Truitt pumped in 24 and Jackie Ridgle added 20 for the Bears. Each club is now 1-1 in Pac-8 play with Washington 10-3 and Cal 6-5 over-all.

Washington State jumped into a three-way tie with UCLA and Southern Cal for the conference lead at 2-0 and lifted its season mark to 11-2 while dropping Stanford to 0-2 and 2-9.

With barely 2½ minutes gone in the game, WSU moved ahead for good and held a 42-27 lead by the intermission. The Indians closed the gap to nine with 4:29 to play before the Cougar defense stifled Stanford.

The Railroad Average Victim Of The Jet Age

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q.—Please tell me what has happened to the Dow Jones Railroad average. I must have been asleep at the switch because I didn't see anything about its being discontinued.

—H.D.

A — The Dow Jones Rail average has undergone a major face lifting in order to bring it apace with the times. Rails as the major transporter of freight and passengers have had to step aside for airlines and truckers.

Reflecting this change, Dow Jones announced on Dec. 21, 1969, that the Rail average would be supplanted by a Transportation average effective the first trading day of 1970.

The same number of stocks, twenty, have been used in the new average. Eleven rails in the former computation remain intact, but nine have been replaced by six major airlines and three nationwide truckers. Several of the rails which were omitted are in various stages of merger or have diversified into other industries.

The transition was accomplished by an adjustment in the divisor which compensated for the price differential between the two averages. A similar change was made in the 65 stock Composite average. The Dow theory which allows that a trend reversal on the Industrials must be subsequently confirmed by the rails before a definitive market change can occur has apparently fallen by the wayside as well.

Q — When they first came out, I purchased 7 Signal Companies bonds due in 1994. We are retired and need income. Are these safe and will they retain their market value? —W.V.

A — These BBB rated sinking-fund debentures are a direct but unsecured obligation of Signal Co. Their rating, while not high, still allows them to be purchased by Commercial banks. Initially offered on Nov. 6 the issue has thus far maintained its market value and is currently trading just below par. Under terms of the sinking fund, $5 million of this debenture must be retired annually beginning in October, 1975, at par plus interest.

Market On Mixed Side Near Close

NEW YORK (AP) — Caught in a seesaw pattern, the stock market was mixed late today, with trading on the quiet side.

The Dow Jones industrial average at 2 pm., was up 0.27 at 790.79.

Stocks that declined in price were just about holding their own against advances on the Big Board.

Investors were apparently uncommitted, as evidenced by the light trading volume, and the pattern throughout most of the day reflected that mood, now rising, now falling within a narrow range.

Telex, up 6 at 117, continued its winning ways in the second day of trading on the Big Board. On Monday, its New York Stock Exchange debut, the electronics company gained 4 points.

A Telex spokesman said it had no idea why the stock was up and said the company planned no announcements until later this month, when third-quarter earnings will be released.

Among active issues on the New York Stock Exchange:

American Airlines was off 2 at 26⅜; Carrier Corp., off 3 at 30; Copper Range, up 3⅝ at 71½; Eastern Airlines, off 1 at 14 and Itek, down 1½ at 74⅝.

On the American Stock Exchange, Mite Corp. was the most-active in late transactions, off 1¾ at 12¾. Heli-Coil has agreed on a merger into Mite, ending previous opposition to the acquisition.

Other American actives included Nortek, up 1 at 30; Susquehanna preferred, off 1⅜ at 13⅛; Astrodata, up 1⅝ at 33⅝ and Four Seasons, up 1¾ at 60¼.

British Purchase

NEW YORK (UPI) — Corning Glass Works, Inc., has announced its plans to buy 56 per cent of Evans Electroselenium, Ltd., a British firm, at $5.10 a share from founder Arthur Evans and will make a similar offer to all other shareholders.
